JANESVILLE TO THE FORE.

The Industrial and Commercial club is to be commended for giving the people of Janesville an opportunity to see what the city represents in the way of industries, and the manufacturers deserve a "thank you" for hearty cooperation.

It is an old saying that "a people is not without honor, save in his own country," and the sentiment applies with more or less force to towns and cities.

The common experience of many boys and girls, acknowledged in later life, is that they never appreciated home until they left it. This is equally true of the city which shelters us and which we refer to as "our home."

The display of goods "Made in Janesville," now on exhibition in the stores along the street, will be a revelation to many people, and the remark will be made frequently, "I didn't know that the city represented so much in the way of manufacturing."

While familiarity does not always breed contempt, it fosters ignorance, and what the average citizen knows about home industries, unless directly interested, he gathers from the twelve o'clock whistle.

After the Gazette was well established in its new home, the management gave a Saturday afternoon reception, offering to every lady caller a rose, as well as the opportunity to see how a newspaper was made.

The roses went, 800 strong, before six o'clock, and many of the callers never passed beyond the rose counter. The crowd was not a mixed crowd, as the men forgot to come, and the mysteries of newspaper-making are still unexplored.

The proprietor of one of our factories, passing along the street last night at six o'clock, said to a friend: "See that little army of girls, stringing out for a couple of blocks, on their way home, representing 180 wage earners." How many people in Janesville know that a single industry employed 180 girls?

How many know anything about the manufacture of nails and wire, of plows and drills, of stamping machines and shears, of cloths and clothing and huggies, and a hundred other things, that we would investigate with interest in any other city but our own.

This ignorance, while not cultivated, is widespread, and it is well for all of us to take a day off and study the object lessons at short range, which mean so much in the way of stability and prosperity to the best city in the land, our home city.

The statement has been made before, but it will bear repeating and pasting in your hat: "Janesville has 2,600 voters who are real estate taxpayers." Is there any other city in the land of similar size, which can duplicate the showing?

These figures are significant because they mean that a large majority of the men who work in our shops and factories own their homes and are financially interested in the public welfare.

It means also that the men behind the industries have so successfully and conservatively managed that development has progressed without interruption until today the manufacturing interests are on a sound financial basis, with a promising outlook.

The long continued era of prosperity has led to most satisfactory results, so far as local interests are concerned. Capital and labor have worked together without friction, and both have been rewarded.

The result has been an atmosphere of happy content, and while this is pleasant and most desirable it contains an element of danger which may result in stagnation, so far as progress and future development are concerned.

Contentment is a blessing which may not be overestimated, but it is sometimes fatal to ambition, and the census figures recently published indicate that Janesville has not worked overtime to promote growth, during the past decade.

"The Industrial and Commercial club—100 strong—was organized, not to promote contentment, but to boost the city and inaugurate, if possible, an era of growth. It is a well equipped organization, and simply needs concerted action and encouragement to accomplish results.

While not confronted with open opposition, the workers are sometimes oppressed with the air of content which seems to envelop the city.

There are some of the expressions of satisfied people:

"Better lot well enough alone. More factories means more labor, and more labor may result in organization, higher wages, and labor trouble."

"The city is large enough. If it doubled in population my house would double in value, my taxes would double, and the place would be worth no more for a home."

This sentiment is not widespread, but there is just enough of it to chill the atmosphere. The city has an opportunity today to secure an old established industry with a branch factory. The management like Janesville and want to come here. They propose to start with 400 skilled men, and increase to 1,000 within a few years.

There is no hunch about the proposition, as they have unlimited capital with ten factories in long and successful operation. They simply want to move one of them to Janesville on account of labor conditions in the large cities, and all they ask is a place to be housed.

Other cities have offered them three times what it will cost Janesville to secure them, but they like the Bower City, and it will be a grave mistake if we turn the proposition down.

No city can afford to be satisfied with its growth, and but few western cities are. More people means more business for the merchants, more work for the builder, a healthy movement in real estate, which has long suffered from stagnation, and a better city in every way.

Let us appreciate the blessings we have and show a disposition to share them by all becoming boosters for the best little city in the land.

WESTERN ENTHUSIASM.

A gentleman whose son is engaged in business at Oklahoma City, recently visited that new metropolis and relates some wonderful stories of the city's growth.

Twenty-one years ago the first house was built in Oklahoma City. The census just completed shows a population today of 65,500 with skyscrapers and all the paraphernalia of a modern city.

The capital was recently removed from Guthrie and buildings to cost $1,500,000, donated to the state by the city, are now in process of construction.

"The Boosters' club of this wonderful city sent a committee to Chicago a year ago to confer with Morris & Co., in regard to locating a packing house. The company said, 'What have you to offer?' The reply came back in Yankee fashion. 'What do you want?' 'Land enough for our purposes and $200,000,' was the answer.

The offer was accepted, the committee went home and raised the money in three hours. Today the packing company has a modern plant in Oklahoma City costing $3,000,000, with a capacity of 1,000 cattle, 1,500 sheep and 2,500 cattle a day, while a rival company from the east is duplicating the plant on a similar proposition. The last $200,000 was raised in an hour.

"This is the way that they do things in the 'wild and woolly west.' The pace is a little swift for Janesville, but we can do something, if we will. Let's boost a while and watch results, results."

WASHINGTON B. THOMAS.
Sugar Trust to be Center of Government Probe.

New York, N. Y.—The so-called sugar trust is to be the next combination attacked by the United States legal department. Attorney General Wickersham has so declared and it is known that for months the government attorneys have been working up the case against those interested in the sugar business.

This prosecution will be entirely different from the recent case brought against the sugar trust and it is entirely possible that individuals will be indicted, including many of the people prominent in the sugar business.

John E. Parsons is president of the association of sugar manufacturing companies known as the trust, and Washington B. Thomas is one of the directors.

BILL NYE ON FOX-HUNTING

He Considered It a Most Thrilling Pastime for Sons of the American Nobility.

"Fox-hunting is one of the most thrilling pastimes of which I know," said Bill Nye, "and for young men whose parents have amassed large sums of money in the intellectual pursuit of hides and tallow, the meet, the chase, the scamper, the full cry, the cover, the stilled fracture, the yelp of the pack, the yelp, the yell of triumph, the confusion, the whoop, the holla, the halloo, the hurrah, the abrasion, the sport of the hunter, the concussion, the sword, the open, the earth-stopper, the strangled henna, the glad cry of the hound as he lays at his master's feet the strawberry mark of the riddle, all are exhilarating to the sons of the American nobility. Fox-hunting combines the danger and the wild tumultuous joy of the skating rink, the toboggan slide, the mush-and-milk sociable and the straw ride. For the young American nobleman whose dual father made his money by inventing a fluent pill, or who gained his great wealth through relieving humanity by means of a lung-pad, a liver-pad, a kidney-pad or a foot-pad, fox-hunting is first rate."

or at least they have everything to do with his appearance. No man can afford to be otherwise than well dressed. A perfect fitting suit can only be obtained by having it built to fit you. Ask yourself if this can be done by a tailor or a number of tailors a hundred or a thousand miles away. Yet when you buy a hand-me-down suit you get a suit that was intended for the first man that would come along and buy it. You get a suit without that individuality that makes the well dressed man. Our suits are all different because they are built for different men. Yet each one shows that same skill and care in the making. The new fall woollens are here, $25 to $50.

A Test of Shakespeare.
A friend of father's told me that is the only test to apply in considering which parts of the doubtful plays are genuine. "If you want to read it, it's Shakespeare; and if you don't, it isn't."—The Aberdeen.

WOMEN'S DAY AT THE CONFERENCE

SESSIONS OF MISSIONARY SO-CIETY WERE HELD TODAY.

CONSTITUTION ADOPTED

Principal Work of Morning Was Adoption of Constitution for Women's Home and Foreign Mission Society.

Adoption of the constitution for the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Society of the Eastern Conference of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod, occupied a large portion of the time of the morning sessions at St.
Peter's church this morning. This was the second annual meeting of the society, it having been organized but a year ago, and in the constitution it was provided that a meeting should be held annually at the same time and place as the fall meeting of the conference. Thirteen societies of Southern Wisconsin were represented at the morning session. After minutes at nine o'clock, the reports of committees and societies were heard and the rest of the morning was taken up with the adoption of the constitution.
After the devotion at the opening of the afternoon meeting officers for the ensuing year were elected. The elections resulted as follows.

President—Mrs. H. K. Gehhart, Milwaukee.
Vice Presidents—Mrs. A. F. Spier-ing, Milwaukee; Mrs. C. W. Decatur, Janesville; Mrs. L. A. Anderson, Madison.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. H.
Schubow, Plattville.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. William Eckert, Racine.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. F. Wittenberg, Cedarburg.

All the officers above named served the past year with the exception of the two vice presidents last mentioned, who were chosen additional.
Only Mrs. Spiering serving last year.
Papers on "The Ideal Woman's Society," and "Missionary Literature" left over from this morning's program were given by delegates from Kenosha and the Redeemer church of Milwaukee, were given. Reports of the field work in missions were given in papers on "India," by delegates from Waterloo; "Japan," by a delegate from the Holy Communion church of Richmond, and "Plattville," by a delegate from Madison.

This evening there will be a vesper service at 7:45 and Rev. William Eckert, of the church of the Holy Communion, Racine, will give an address on "The Land of the Living." Rev. Eckert has recently returned from Europe where he visited places made familiar by their connection with the life and labors of Luther, the Oberammergau passion play and visited the great work of mercy at Bielefeld, established by the renowned philanthropist, Vono Bodelschwingh.

Tomorrow the session of the conference proper will be held.

Late Arrivals.
Latest arrivals at the conference were: Mrs. Letty Taylor, Miss Anna Klingel and Miss Minnie Carl of Plattville; Mrs. Gehhart, Mrs. Troke, and Mrs. Froubig of Kenosha; Mrs. A.
Christianson and Mrs. Rex of the Atonement church, Racine; Mrs. Rahnebaum, Milwaukee; and Mrs. Deluke, Oshkosh.

The system of teaching in the Sunday school, as originated by the Lutheran church, was commended in words of high praise by both speakers at last evening's meeting. Rev. W.
W. Fick, who spoke on "The History of the Sunday School Movement in the Lutheran Church," after outlining the history of the movement from its birth in 1872, laid particular stress on the advantages of the present system, as against the fanciful ideas of the old method of Bible study. The graded system, he said, has not been exceeded by any other devised by men of education, and many of them have taken it as a model, making slight changes for their own uses.

Rev. C. B. Lindstedt of Oshkosh also lauded the graded system in the Sunday school. Speaking on the subject, "The Future of the Sunday School," he predicted that under the method now employed by the Lutherans whereby the uniform the uniform system of Bible instruction is done away with, the "age" members would be removed, and the younger would be the younger would be interested.
He was expressed that the time given over to the study of holy writ was so inadequate, but the speaker expressed the belief that in time at-rangements would be made for Sunday school hours during the week.
This method was recommended because of the tendency toward making religion less and less prominent in the public schools. Larger recognition of the home department and the benefits to be derived by the gathering of the parents for suggestions with regard to the training of their children, was also looked forward to as a thing sure to come.

PASSED AWAY AT EVANSVILLE HOME

Fred Hendricks Succumbed to Pulmonary Tuberculosis This Morning After Long Illness.

Fred Hendricks died at his home in Janesville this morning after a long illness with pulmonary tuberculosis.
Deceased was one of the most popular of the younger men of Janesville and gave promise to an unusually successful career when stricken with the dread malady and compelled to abandon his studies at the University of Wisconsin about a year ago. Thereafter he spent several months in Janesville, living in a tent near the home of his brother, Attorney Claude
J. Hendricks. The latter had been absent from his bedside but a few hours when the sad tidings came this morning.

Mrs. Martha J. Lovelace,
Mrs. Martha J. Lovelace died early this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Callison, at South Third street. Funeral and burial will be private. Notice of the time of the funeral will be given later.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN DEMPSEY DEATH

Final Report of the Chemist in Chicago Has Not Been Received As Yet.

There is no act saying that murder will out. The Gazette last evening announced the alleged death by poisoning of William J. Dempsey, late of Three Forks, Montana, with mystery, even confusing the sex so that following there be any criminal action following, it would not warn those suspected of the crime in time to escape. However despite this caution all the facts have been made public and the report published last night that the body was exhumed and the post mortem held by Dr. McGuire and Welch, substantiated.
It was the brother of the deceased, John Dempsey, of Broadhead, that conceived the suspicion all was not right and who authorized the body be exhumed. The Chicago chemist examined a portion of the stomach and liver but has not completed the analysis of the two complete organs which has been sent him for a more complete investigation.

William J. Dempsey, aged thirty-one, died at his home in Three Forks, Montana, on Aug. 23. It was said at the time of his death he suffered convulsions. His remains were brought to Janesville and interred in the cemetery here on Aug. 27. Bright's disease was alleged to have been the direct cause of the death and some of the actions of the widow who returned to her home the night of the funeral, are said to have first aroused suspicion.

The brother, who lives in Broadhead, consulted District Attorney Fisher regarding the possibility of ordering the body exhumed but was refused authority as stated last evening. Acting on his own initiative it is said he had the post mortem made and it is alleged that arsenic was found in the parts exhumed. Despite this, it is feared that no steps have as yet been taken to have the widow arrested.
It is possible, according to competent authority, that the arsenic traces found may have resulted from the chemicals used in preserving the body for shipment by the embalmer. The complete report, when received, will however settle the matter.

It is expected that should detailed traces of arsenic be found, a warrant will be asked for persons residing in Three Forks and a sensational trial will follow. The Chicago chemist having the investigation in charge is the same one that made the examination of the stomach of Col. Swope of Kansas City for which Dr. Hyde is now a convicted felon on the grounds of having murdered him.

BAND WILL PLAY ON

ebrated With Free Concerts displays of the manufactured goods which will be found in the windows of the different stores.

HEMMING IS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE LAW

Janesville's Assistant Postmaster One of Nearly 8,000 Affected by Taft's Sweeping Order.

John G. Hemming of this city will be one of those affected by President Taft's sweeping order, to be issued today, placing 7,322 assistant postmasters under the civil service law and thereby taking them entirely out of politics. It is probable, also, that the President will recommend to congress this fall that all second and third class postmasters be placed under civil service rules. Should such recommendations obtain, 7,198 officials would be affected. Postmaster General Hitchcock made the recommendations to the President. The changes made and presented are a part of his scheme to put the postal establishment on a business basis and make it self-sustaining. Mr. Hitchcock has already supported the expenditures in his department to a minimum and he hopes to make the establishment a paying proposition before he goes out of office.

garten teachers' course at Oberlin

cess in her primary work in this city endeavor and fit herself for higher instructional work.

Location of Garden of Eden.
The late General Gordon Eden believed the Coco de Mer to be the for-bidden fruit, and the Seychelles Islands to be the site of the Garden of Eden. This idea was so firmly fixed in his mind that he caused soundings to be taken of the surrounding sea, for the purpose of tracing the courses of the four rivers, and the results confirmed him in his belief.

Could Live on Waste.
In the various discussions of the high cost of living, it is frequently suggested that waste is responsible for some of it. A Frenchman is reported as saying that he could live in any American village better than any of the inhabitants on what the inhabitants throw away.

CHINA TO BUILD NAVY HERE.

San Francisco, Cal.—China's new navy is to be built in the United States. This much is practically settled. The contract has been obtained by Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel company and owner of the Union Iron works of this city. The work will be largely done at the latter place which has been only moderately active since the completion of the cruiser California in 1901. It will mean the spending of millions of dollars in this country.

Prince Tsai Hsun, of China, is journeying east with Charles Schwab to look over the Bethlehem works. President McGregor of the Union Iron Works will have charge of the construction as far as it is done on the coast.

In his time the Union Iron works has turned out for the Pacific coast some of the finest ships in the navy. In 1898 the battleship Wisconsin and the torpedo boat Farago; in 1897 the twin gunboats Wheeling and Marlet; in 1900 the Wyoming and the destroyer Perry; in 1901 the battleship Ohio, the armored cruiser Tacoma and the destroyer Prohm; in 1902 the torpedo boat Paul Jones, and in 1904 the big cruisers California, South Dakota and Milwaukee. Later came the submarines Grampus and Pike.

In addition to the Union Iron works, which Schwab acquired a number of years ago, the president of the Bethlehem steel company is the owner of the huge steel dry docks at Hunters point. This was purchased about 18 months ago and has proved to be of great value to the navy, as well as the merchant marine.

Then in 1905 came the Olympia, from the bridge of which Dewey defeated the battle of Manila Bay; in 1898 the battleship Wisconsin and the torpedo boat Farago; in 1897 the twin gunboats Wheeling and Marlet; in 1900 the Wyoming and the destroyer Perry; in 1901 the battleship Ohio, the armored cruiser Tacoma and the destroyer Prohm; in 1902 the torpedo boat Paul Jones, and in 1904 the big cruisers California, South Dakota and Milwaukee. Later came the submarines Grampus and Pike.

SEVENTY-THREE CHINESE STUDENTS TO COMPLETE EDUCATION IN AMERICA.

Chinese students sent here by the government as they arrived in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal.—Seventy-three Chinese students sent by their government to further pursue their studies in the United States arrived last week on the Pacific mail liner China. They intend taking up all branches of education and some of their number will remain in this country for seven years.

In an interview Tse-zun Zee, a member of the party, said:

"We have been sent to this country by the Chinese government to complete our education. The government offered scholarships of which we were the winners. Chinese students to complete their education in America. The scholarships depend upon the different courses to be pursued and we will remain here from three to seven years, according to the courses we take. The party will go directly to Springfield, Mass., from here, where it will be divided up into small groups and sent to the various universities throughout the country.

Wise Advice to Follow.

When shop hours are done, stop talking shop and thinking shop, and talk and think of something else. Extend your thoughts beyond the confines of your place of employment. Interest yourself not in your neighbors and their doings, but in the achievements of thinking, useful men in the community and in the nation.—Chicago American.

Penalty of Wealth.

The cars which are the keys to riches hang often so heavily at the rich man's girdle that they clog him with weary days and restless nights, when others sleep quietly.—Laurie Walton.

An Important Industry

Bicknell Manufacturing Co. Produce Good Machinery.

In the display windows of the Carl Diehl Store will be exhibited during the "Made in Janesville" week, a two-cylinder gas engine with a line of machine parts, together with photographs of heavy work which is the product of the Bicknell Manufacturing Company of this city.

The engine is built in their own shop and while it does not differ radically from other good gasoline engines there are several important improvements which have been made that bring it into the fore front of the other best gasoline engines on the market. For instance, those vital parts of any gasoline engine the crank shaft, and connecting rod are forged in their own machine shop. This means that a person using this engine can be made of the best of materials. An imperfect casting or a poorly turned crank shaft will put the best of gasoline engines out of business in short order.

These engines have been tested so thoroughly as to demonstrate the fact that they will stand up under any strain, and develop even more power than they are rated. There are two models which are featured by the Bicknell company, the single cylinder which comes in four or five horse power and which is suitable for light work upon the farm, and in fact makes an ideal low priced power plant, and the two cylinder engine in power of eight to ten horse which is designed for the hardest grades of work in the shop or in any place where steady dependable power is desired.

The gasoline engines form but one of the products of the Bicknell Mfg. Co. A wide range of high grade machinery of hardware specialties are also made and jobbed.

The machine shop is located on N. River st., while the large, wholesale and stock warehouse, offices, etc., are located near the C. & N. W. Passenger Station.

The Bicknell Mfg. Co. was incorporated twenty years ago and has conducted a large, thriving business since then. The manufacturing end of the establishment was added nine years ago. About twelve men are employed and the goods of the company are sold in every state in the union as well as in Canada and Mexico. To the tireless energy of the officers, Messrs. H. P. Bicknell, Sec'y, and B. C. Bicknell, president, is due the creditable business which has been developed.

First to Find Gold in America.

North America has counted as a gold-producing continent only since the late '40's. But it might well have done so for nearly 200 years. According to the London Chronicle, in the voyage round the world which began in 1791 the privateer Capt. Shelvocke, found in certain California valleys "a rich black mold which, as you turn it fresh up to the sun, appears as if intermingled with gold dust. Though we were a little prejudiced," he adds, "against the thought that it could be possible that this metal should be so promiscuously and universally mingled with common earth, yet we endeavored to cleanse and wash the earth from some of it, and the more we did the more it appeared like gold. In order to be further satisfied I brought away some of it, which we lost in our confusion in China."

Particular About Cheese.

Gritts, the grocer, pulled his apron straight and put on his No. 1 smile as the lady with the Philadelphia-Philadelphia order entered the shop. She wanted some cheese.

"Yes, madam," smiled Gritts. "I have some delightful Derbys, madam, a quantity of choice Cheddars, madam, and a parcel of prime Parmesans."

Madam would like to taste some if she could. Certainly, madam could, if she would. Gritts flourished his gauze over this cheese and that. Madam nibbled at 11 different samples. No; none of them was quite "it."

"Of course, madam," said Gritts at length, "if you require Stilton—" and he handed her a generous taster.

"Ah," nodded the lady, as she annulled her lips, "that will do nicely! Now, if you'll give me a matchbox I'll be getting home. I only want to bait a mousetrap!"

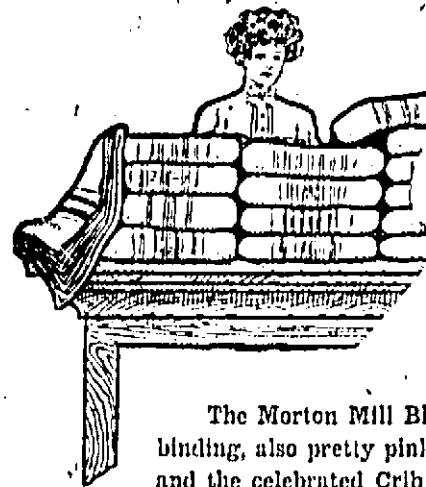

How to Avoid.

A cheerful disposition is held by some doctors to be the best protection against cholera. When this disease first visited Paris, in 1832, a notice was issued advising the inhabitants "to avoid, as far as possible, all occasion of melancholy and all painful emotions, and to seek plenty of distractions and amusements. Those with a light and happy temperament are not likely to be stricken down." This advice was largely followed, and even when cholera was claiming over a thousand weekly victims, the theaters and cafes were thronged. The epidemic was in some quarters treated as a huge joke, and plays and songs were written round it. Rochester, the father of the brilliant Journalist of today, wrote a play, "Le Cholera Morbus," which proved a big success, and another production on the same lines, "Paris-madness," also had a long run.—London Chronicle.

Attracts Business Janesville Porch Shades Sold All Over the World

Bindery and Blank Book Establishment A Credit to City

There are few cities the size of Janesville that can boast of so complete and up-to-date a bindery and blank book establishment as that of W. E. Clinton Co. on South Main St.

The fact that the business is so well established and in the hands of a person of greater value to the city than any other business is a fact that the Clinton Co. are handling work from the cities and towns within a radius of 25 to 100 miles of Janesville, adding to their reputation continually for high class work.

The making of blank books for all purposes is one of the large features of the establishment. Orders for the complete sets of books for several counties are handled in regular intervals. Specially ruled blank work of every description, special ledger, price books, etc., are made on special orders.

The agency for the Jones Improved Ledger is located with the Clinton bindery and many of these long but handy books are sold to business people. Long leaf devices of all kinds are sold also, only the very best kinds being represented.

A feature is made of special binding and particular work of all classes, a visitors' register for Knickerbocker, being one of the articles recently produced. Check books, library work, art books, magazine binders, but everything that has to do with the binding and blank book business is handled.

The establishment is provided with all the special machinery necessary to producing the best work and the skilled mechanics employed care for the orders properly. Mr. W. E. Clinton, proprietor, is a binder and blank book maker of wide experience and is well equipped to handle the intricate as well as the more common work which comes to his institution.

An Article Which Fills The Need In Every Climate

The Hough Shade Corporation, makers of Vudor Porch Shades and Hammocks, are the largest and highest class concern of their kind in the world.

The Vudor goods are represented in practically every city of 5000 or more in the United States, the sale usually being confined to the best dealer in the town.

Representative Frank H. Marshall Field, of Waukegan, Ill., and Marshall Field, are impressed with the merit of this article sufficiently to handle it in preference to all other lines, and a large foreign business is done in South America, Porto Rico, Mexico, and the Hawaiian Islands. Truly it may be said that this concern is one of the most important factors in the commercial life of Janesville.

The fact that we live in what is known as the temperate zone, with a moderate average temperature, is probably responsible for the fact that we have been slow to realize and adapt ourselves to the tropical conditions under which we live for at least three months a year.

Fortunately our builders have now so far appreciated the quality of our summer as to adopt the tropical veranda, and except in the large, crowded cities almost all houses are today built with some sort of porch.

To have a porch on your house, however, is not enough. To get the full benefit of your porch, to make it what it should be, cool and shady in the hottest weather, secluded and private but airy and breezy open, you must give some attention to its fittings.

In adopting ideas we should go about it intelligently and with discrimination. The idea of porch shades made of strips of wood, bound together by cords, is primarily a good one, but the flimsiness of the original bamboo curtain is not appropriate to the neat, well kept American home, nor to American standards of durability and convenience.

The Vudor Porch Shade represents not the untried adoption of an idea but rather the perfection of that idea. In the production of Vudor Porch Shades, brains have been employed, first, to design a shade with the strips and spacers between them so proportioned as to keep out the sun, but let in the breeze; to prevent outsiders from seeing in while permitting insiders to see out, and at the same time making a shade that has stability and durability with lightness and beauty.

Second, to select the best materials for their respective purposes, a fine quality of wood fibre was chosen for the strips or slats, because it has strength, flexibility and lightness, and because it is a splendid non-conductor of heat.

For binding these strips together in firm, solid twine, such as is used for fishing nets, was chosen because of its strength and quality, for withstanding moisture.

Even the cords used in Vudor Porch Shades for raising and lowering are of special manufacture, being what is known as "half twist" cord. This does not curl or loop up and stick in the pulleys, as common twist cord would do.

Vudor Porch Shades are made throughout by specially designed and patented machinery. The strips are bound together by the twine warp and a chain stitch that absolutely prevents the strips from working out at the sides of the curtain and, permanently the straight, clean cut edges that are one of the marks of distinction of Vudor Porch Shades.

The special machinery and appliances which are used in the manufacture of the Vudor Shades were designed and originated by A. C. Hough, the general manager, and much of the company's success is due to the thought and ingenuity of Mr. Hough in this connection.

Vudor Porch Shades are stained, not colored, in soft, pleasant colors that harmonize with the most favored house colors and with the summer landscape.

They are just like things for "hanging in" porches or balconies for screening purposes or outdoor living apartments. The shades can be instantly lowered or raised and are easily and readily put up. Every genuine Vudor Porch Shade has the aluminum name plate. It is a positive protection against an inferior imitation. Vudor Porch Shades come completely equipped and shipped but a screw driver is required to hang them.

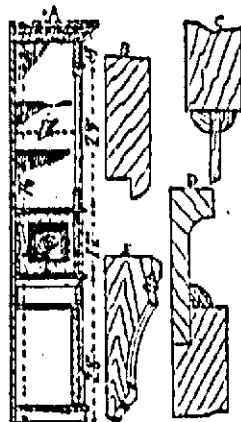

The Vudor exhibit during "Made in Janesville" week is made in the window of J. M. Bostwick & Sons.

IN THE FARM HOME

CHINA CABINET A CONVENIENCE
CHERISHED BY HOUSEWIVES.A Combination Cabinet and Sideboard Which May Be Built Separate and Portable or Erected in the Wall Solid.

Many otherwise well-arranged dwellings are built without any thought whatever of a china closet. This is a great mistake, as there are few housewives who do not have more or less cherished china or glass or silver, and no other ornament will go so far toward improving the appearance of the dining-room as this same china, glass and silver, if properly displayed in a neat china cabinet.

A combination china cabinet and sideboard has been designed for the moderate-priced home. As seen in the cut, A is a cross-section of the cabinet, B is the drawer front, C is a section of the doors, D a section of the panels and E a perspective of the face bracket.

The cabinet may be built separate and portable, or built in the wall solid. The latter method is preferred with face of cabinet flush with the dining-room wall and extending out into the pantry or kitchen. The space below the doors is left open and forms a sideboard.

If desired, the panel above the base shelf may be swung on hinges, which will be handy in passing food and dishes to and from the dining-room.

Many wives object to the doors with the small panes, claiming they obstruct the view, and hide the pretty pieces of glassware. This, however, is a matter of fancy, and the doors may be made to cost much or little.

With the exception of the doors the stock used is 1/2 or 1 inch thick; the doors are 1 1/2 inch thick. The head trim should be the same as other trim in the room, if the cabinet is built in the wall.

Of course, if possible, the wood used should be the same as that used on the doors and windows. Hard wood may be used with good effect. Birch finished with mahogany stain looks very neat.

Any good carpenter will be able to build this cabinet from the cuts accompanying this description, and the cabinet should not be prohibitive in cost. The approximate cost, built of pine, would be $25, finished in any of the stains and varnished. The extra coat for hard wood would be slight, as there is not much needed.

The panels of the rear walls may be mirrored if the cost be no object. The cabinet may be built in new or old walls, and will cost less than a modern sideboard.

God de Luxe.

Even cod steak will make a company luncheon. According to a well-known chef if this fish were to retail at 30 cents a pound it would be considered as delicious as salmon.

Roll the steaks, cut into neat little cutlets in egg and bread crumbs, and fry a nice brown, being careful to drain on blotting paper. Serve with it mashed potatoes beaten very light and arranged in the center of a meat platter with the fish grouped upright around it. Put a basket cut from a lemon skin on top filled with parsley or lemon juice and decorate with dice or half-moon shapes cut from cold boiled beets.

There will be no thought in the mind of the guest of a pot luck repast.

Caraway Cookies.

One cup hard, two of sugar, one and one-half water, one teaspoon soda, two of cream of tartar, nutmeg, salt, flour enough to roll out. The more they are kneaded the better they will be. At last, mould in one teaspoonful of caraway seed. Very nice.

An Ice-Chest Suggestion.

To prevent a dish from slipping when placed on the ice, put a rubber ring (such as comes on all ordinary fruit jars) underneath it.—Woman's Home Companion.

HE TRIED TO REFORM

"I tell you what it is," said Deeson to his wife, as he sat in his armchair and dressing-gown by the evening lamp, one foot elevated beside the steam radiator in his favorite pose—"I tell you what it is; we are making a big mistake, getting into a rut this way. We ought to go out more evenings, see our friends and go to the theaters and concerts, brush up a little and get in touch with things again. I was talking to young Abbott today. He and his wife have joined a card club and taken tickets to the orchestra concerts. He told me they made it a rule to do something social four evenings every week. That's the right system, too."

"But, my dear," protested his wife, "the reason we stay in so much is that you are too tired after your office work to do anything but rest up. You know how you felt about my asking the Jordans in for bridge last month. Aren't you afraid the Abbotts' programme would prove a little strenuous for us? We are not young as they are, or so enthusiastic."

"We're plenty young enough to enjoy anything that's going," asserted Deeson, vigorously, "and we'll begin at once. Tomorrow night there is a concert which we ought not to miss. We are going to that concert."

Deeson unfolded his newspaper with decision and hunched his dressing-gown about him with an air of finality.

"My dear," said Mrs. Deeson, mildly, the next evening, as her husband slammed the front door behind him and stamped off the snow on the hall rug, "what makes you so late? Dinner has been ready twenty minutes and you know you said you would be home early to dress for the concert."

"Great Scott!" returned Deeson, in apparent exasperation. "Can't a man get his coat off before he is to be asked to hurry? My business is more important than fifty concerts. I couldn't help it, my dear; I was held up by a man. He finished lamely."

"Well, if we don't spend too much time at the table we shall be in season yet," consoled Mrs. Deeson.

They ate silently and hurriedly. Deeson was hungry and so he wasted no precious moment in conversation. However, by the close of the meal he was feeling better. He had almost forgotten the duty which lay before him. He took out a cigar and leaned back in his chair.

At that moment he happened to catch sight of his wife's face. What he saw there brought him back to the present with a start. Without a word, he laid his cigar carefully on the tray, rose and went upstairs.

His evening clothes were laid out for him with all care, so one might have thought that he would be able to do them without great effort. Such did not prove to be the case, however. Whether the path of virtue was being glancing already to prove a road of poor accommodations or whether the loss of his after-dinner cigar in some subtle way had impaired his temper, certain it is that Deeson's struggles to attire himself in the garb of a "blooming head waiter," as he phrased it, formed a period of storm and stress.

When, at length, his toilet was completed, his countenance was flushed and his eyes glittered. His wife was waiting for him.

They were ten minutes late in arriving at the theater. Ten minutes later, that is, than the fashionable limit of tardiness. Deeson is a man of strict principles. His sentiments on the subject of the late theater-goer are well known. "The manner of their arrival therefore did not tend to soothe his feelings. When, in the middle of the third number, the ushers discovered that their seats were in the fourth row back of those they were innocently occupying, his ire approached the danger point.

The concert progressed brilliantly. Every one seemed to be congratulating himself on his presence at the function. Deeson paid close attention and told himself that he was having a delightful time. After about an hour of it, however, he felt an imperative need for fresh air. Later, strange noises in his limbs and back began to afflict him; he wished violently for his dressing-gown.

The next stage was drowsiness. He fought valiantly, but the day had been hard and his present surroundings did not have a stimulating effect. From that time on the space to the end seemed an interminable period of boredom. If he had had a newspaper to look at!

When the concert drew finally to a close he was very weary—very and rebellious. His wife was sparkling.

"Don't you want to take me to have a little supper?" she beamed.

"I do not," exploded Deeson, with astonishing bitterness. "What I want and what I am going to do is to make tracks for home at my very best gait, get off those confounded tops, smoke a cigar in peace and quiet—if there is such a thing—and go to bed. To bed, do you hear?"

"How much shall I be worth for work tomorrow, I should like to know, after this sort of delirious dissipation?"

"This ends it; no more society stunts for me!"

LIGHTS HIDDEN FROM SIGHT

Gloves so Arranged That One May Get Rid of Direct Glare—Two Methods Shown.

The old adage about not hiding one's light under a bushel seems to be set at naught by the developments of recent years, for a large variety of interiors are nowadays lit by lamps which themselves are hidden from view, says Popular Mechanics. By projecting the light to the ceiling and letting that diffuse the light, we get rid of the direct glare of the lamps, so we are practically getting our illumination from lamps hid under a bushel.

Hiding the Lamp.

Where such a method of lighting is applicable, the present problem narrows itself down practically to a choice of the reflecting and concealing fixture, which may be highly artistic or decidedly homespun. For instance, two such indirect lighting fixtures were recently advertised in the same month's issue of a European and an American technical journal. Both designs are here reproduced, leaving each reader to make his own comments.

SEARCHLIGHTS ON THE SUEZ

Every Warship of Any Description Compelled to Carry Light of Special Pattern.

Every war vessel carries from one to twenty searchlights, and every vessel of any description whatever passing through the Suez Canal has to carry one of special pattern. A searchlight consists essentially of an arc lamp of special form, a parabolic mirror and a case to hold the lot; the case being mounted so as to be capable of movement in two directions, viz., vertically and horizontally. The hood, as this case is called, is made of sheet steel about three-thirty-sixths of an inch thick, says Caswell's Magazine. The turntable, trunnions, etc., are cast in gun metal, the arms which support the hood are of cast steel. The lamp box is formed as part of the hood. The mirror is carried on springs in the back cover and at the front of the hood is a "front glass" mounted in a gun metal ring, and the dispersion lens, when carried, is hinged on in front of this. Training is carried out by means of a worm and wormwheel or by a rack and pinion. Slewing is effected by means of a pinion which gears into a crown wheel on the underside of the turntable, or else it is done directly by hand. The Suez Canal regulations require that the projector shall be capable of giving the light required under two different conditions—in the first case a broad, flat beam of light illuminating both banks and the canal uninterruptedly, this being used when no other ship is approaching; in the other case they require a beam having the same angle of divergence and consequently the same width as the first, but divided into two portions, with a dark interval between, thus giving light at both sides but not directly in front and so not interfering with the navigation of the approaching vessel.

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

At Cleveland there is a complete plant for curing meats by electric processes.

The National Electric Light association has attained a membership of nearly 4,000.

Nearly all of the finest automobile machines are driven by direct connected electric motors.

There are more than 400 wireless stations on the coasts of the maritime nations.

A cast iron electro magnet, if of good quality, can be wound so as to carry 50 pounds for every square inch of its cross section.

Weighing less than 50 pounds, an electrically driven machine has been invented for scrubbing floors.

Plans are under way for placing all trunk telephone lines between Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington under ground.

The city of Hamilton, O., proposes to cover part of its main street with a glass canopy and illuminate the interior with powerful electric lights.

Metal holders for tumblers by which water may be heated to a desired degree by electricity, have been invented for the use of dentists and barbers.

One large electric company of this country spent during the last year nearly $1,000,000 in patents and patent litigation.

A tiny electric light generating plant has been devised suitable for mounting an automobile to supply current for the lights. The use of improved lamps a very superior illumination is secured.

For exploring automobiles an electric torch has been patented with an electro-magnetic base, which will cling to any metal surface against which it is placed, leaving its user's hands free.

Most merchants who are like Advertisers spend but 2% to 5% of the volume of their business for advertising. In Janesville but few merchants spend more than 1%.

BROWN BROS.

A HANDY MOP

No Metal Framework to Rust, Get Out of Repair or Scratch.

A simple and effective form of mop has been designed by a Pennsylvanian. Its chief advantage lies in the absence of springs, balls, levers, wheels or other parts of metal framework, which have been known to rust, get out of repair and scratch polished surfaces. The mop is made in two detachable parts: the mop proper and the handle, which is equipped with a hook at one end and a rubber piece that is also detachable. To put this apparatus together the hook is run through the ring on the mop and the hook metal cap is drawn down over the top, compressing the upper portion of the strands so that they can be drawn up into the hollow end of the handle. In this way there are no protruding metal parts and the device may be used with safety on parquet floors or any polished surface which might otherwise be marred by the contact of anything but the soft mop itself. The whole affair is very light and is easy to manipulate.

A Smile Counts.

Every one likes to see a smiling face, and to smile becomingly one must cultivate a cheerful and sympathetic condition of mind. The face wreathed in smiles is like perpetual sunshine in a house. It is irresistible, and conquers all hearts.

A smiling mouth loses half its charm if the eyes do not correspond; for the eyes are the windows of the soul, and the smile that flows only about the lips soon dies away, leaving an indifferent effort to survey and chill the world.

Cultivate the art of smiling, not with your lips, but with your eyes.

Every one can have laughing eyes. They are not a matter of inheritance, nor can they be acquired with the aid of the mass and the professional beauty specialist.

Love is the great transformer. The sternest features may be softened, the hardest natures be humanized, by love.

It may be stated without fear of contradiction that the Bassett & Echlin Co. is the oldest established saddlery hardware and harness institution in this part of the country. The present large representative business had its inception in 1856, when it was started in a small way as many other of the present big institutions came to life. In the early days the business was confined to the jobbing of saddlery hardware and harness, but today one of the best equipped harness, collar and horse goods factories in the country is building up a reputation for the Bassett & Echlin Co. as well as the city which is its home. The business of the concern covers the states of Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana, and eight salesmen represent the company's goods on the road. The dealers only are called upon, the business being confined to the retail trade exclusively and there are stocks of the Bassett & Echlin Co. harness and saddlery to be found in almost every city, village, hamlet and cross roads in the states already mentioned.

The exceptional success of this concern is due largely to the high class goods produced and the fact that seventy skilled mechanics, the best men procurable, are employed. The "Quality Brand" horse collars and the famous Gall Cure collar are two of the manufactured items which have met with unprecedented success and have created a name for quality in the Bassett & Echlin Co. plant. The Gall Cure collar appeals especially to dealers because of the fact that when properly fitted to the horse it will cure all the horse's neck, a real boon to the horse owner. Every harness and every collar manufactured is sold under an absolute guarantee in every way. The best grades of leather only are used and each item is rigidly inspected throughout its course of construction, thus assuring a finished product of unusual merit. The equipment of the factory is very complete and entirely up-to-date. Every new mechanical device which will contribute to the better production of harness, collars and horse goods is installed immediately and it is because of antcipating the continual mechanical changes in manufacturing that the operation of the Bassett & Echlin Co. plant has been brought to such a high state of perfection.

The present modern factory building, erected especially for their purposes, contains 12,000 square feet of floor space all of which is occupied by the various departments of the business. It was built in 1907 and made necessary because of the rapid growth of business and the fact that the former quarters were inadequate.

A new, handsomely illustrated 300-page catalogue is being prepared, showing in detail the various branches of the business. This will be completed within a few weeks and placed in the hands of the hundreds of dealers handling the "Quality Brand" goods.

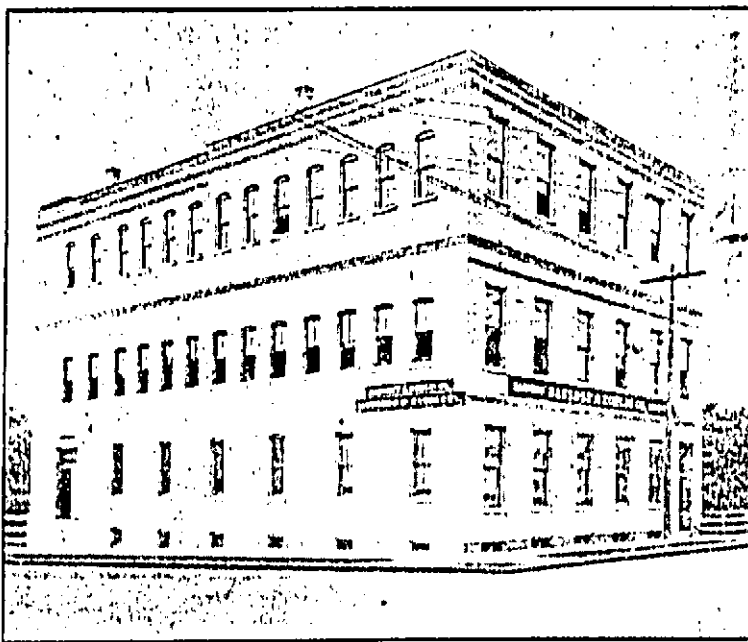

Frank B. Echlin is general manager of the company and is a manufacturer of broad and large experience, whose energy and judgment have been largely instrumental in bringing the business to its present high standing. Joseph W. Echlin and Samuel B. Echlin are also actively interested in the concern.

Janesville Wants Help, the Help of Strong, Unselfish Men, and She Is Right On the Eve of Getting What She Wants

SOME PEOPLE THINK THAT POPULATION IS EVERYTHING TO A CITY—QUALITY POPULATION IS, BUT MERE NUMBERS SELDOM MEAN ANYTHING HELPFUL, FOR THERE IS HARDLY A TOWN OR CITY IN THE COUNTRY THAT COULD NOT DECREASE ITS POPULATION TEN PER CENT AND BE BETTER OFF. I DO NOT, HONESTLY, BELIEVE THAT JANESVILLE SHOULD NOR COULD AFFORD TO LOSE ONE OF HER BUSINESS OR LABORING MEN—JANESVILLE IS TRULY BUILT UPON A SOLID FOUNDATION AS TO MEN AND WOMEN.

BUT JANESVILLE NEEDS THE HELP OF THESE STRONG, UNSELFISH MEN RIGHT NOW. THERE ARE FIVE OTHER THINGS JANESVILLE NEEDS. THEY ARE:

FIRST—A CLEAN, SUMMER AMUSEMENT PARK. IT IS THAT WHICH ATTRACTS LABORING PEOPLE TO A CITY—THEY DEMAND "SOME PLACE TO GO."

SECOND—A GREATER PRIDE IN, AND MORE SUPPORT FOR, LOCAL FACTORIES AND INDUSTRIES AS WELL AS RETAIL STORES.

THIRD—AN INCREASE IN DESIRABLE AND STRONG FACTORIES EMPLOYING GOOD LABOR.

FOURTH—A METROPOLITAN SYSTEM OF STREET LIGHTING THROUGH THE USE OF ARTISTIC POSTS ALONG THE BUSINESS STREETS.

FIFTH—MORE PUBLICITY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY FOR THIS BEAUTIFUL HOME CITY SO LOCATED THAT IT IS THE LOGICAL MANUFACTURING POINT.

THERE IS ONE THING ONLY THAT WE NEED NOW CONSIDER DECREASING, THAT IS: THE DRIVING OUT OF THAT SPIRIT, STILL EXISTING IN A FEW MINDS, THAT "YOU CAN'T DO ANYTHING IN JANESVILLE."

WE WILL PROGRESS JUST AS FAST AS WE SOLVE THESE QUESTIONS AND ACHIEVE THAT POINT WHERE EVERY BUSINESS, PROFESSIONAL AND LABORING MAN IS TALKING AND WORKING FOR JANESVILLE ALL THE TIME.

THE INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL CLUB OF THIS CITY HAS BEEN GOING THROUGH A PERIOD OF ORGANIZATION DURING THE PAST THREE MONTHS—A PERIOD OF HARD WORK FOR ITS MEMBERS—A PERIOD, DURING WHICH, THERE WAS NO "SHOW" OR GREAT OUTSIDE INDICATION OF ACCOMPLISHING ANYTHING. BUT RESULTS ARE EVIDENT TO EVERY MAN WHO HAS FOLLOWED THE WORKINGS OF THIS CIVIC BODY—THERE IS, RIGHT NOW, AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT SPIRIT MANIFEST AMONG THE BUSINESS MEN OF THIS CITY, FOR THE STRONG, UNSELFISH MEN KNOW THAT "THINGS CAN BE DONE" IN JANESVILLE.

Below Is a List of the Janesville Manufacturers Who Will Make Displays in the Retail Store Windows Beginning Tomorrow and Continuing Through Saturday

THERE WAS NOT ONE OF THIS LIST OF FIRMS WHO WAS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE IN THIS GREAT "MADE IN JANESVILLE" EXHIBITION, BUT THAT ENTERED INTO THE SPIRIT OF THE SHOW AT ONCE.

THIS BIG EXHIBITION OF JANESVILLE MADE GOODS IS OF TREMENDOUS IMPORTANCE TO EVERY RESIDENT OF JANESVILLE AND ROCK COUNTY. DURING THE NEXT THREE DAYS YOU WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY OF SEEING JUST WHAT IS MADE HERE AT HOME. SOME OF YOU WILL REALIZE THAT YOU HAVE BEEN BUYING GOODS MADE BY OUTSIDE FIRMS WHICH IN QUALITY AND PRICE ARE NOT IN THE SAME CLASS WITH OUR OWN GOODS. YOU WILL REALIZE THAT JANESVILLE IS A WONDERFULLY STRONG MANUFACTURING CENTER—THAT HER MANUFACTURERS ARE BIG MEN—THAT THE GOODS THEY MAKE ARE UNEQUALLED ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD. YOU WILL SEE EXHIBITED THE PRODUCTS OF TWENTY FACTORIES WHO ARE SPENDING THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS EVERY YEAR IN ADVERTISING, AND WHO, BECAUSE OF THIS JUDICIOUS USE OF ADVERTISING, ARE SHIPPING THEIR PRODUCTS TO EVERY GREAT CITY IN EVERY STATE IN THE UNION. YOU WILL SEE THE PRODUCTS OF OVER FORTY FACTORIES WHO MAKE AND SHIP GOODS TO EVERY CITY AND HAMLET IN THE SEVERAL STATES ABOUT HERE.

THIS GREAT DISPLAY OF JANESVILLE MADE PRODUCTS WILL BE WORTH THE TIME AND ATTENTION OF EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN ROCK COUNTY, FOR IT WILL BE EDUCATIONAL, INTERESTING AND NOVEL.

THE RETAILERS WHO HAVE SO GENEROUSLY DONATED THEIR WINDOWS FOR THIS EVENT ARE MAKING SPECIAL PLANS FOR DISPLAYING THEIR OWN GOODS. TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE. YOU WILL SEE GOODS DISPLAYED BY THEM THAT ARE THE SAME AS THOSE SHOWN IN THE GREATEST RETAIL CENTERS OF CHICAGO OR NEW YORK, AND AS WISE BUYERS KNOW, THESE GOODS SHOWN HERE ARE PRICED AS LOW AND LOWER THAN YOU WOULD HAVE TO PAY IN A LARGER CITY.

LET ME, IN CONCLUSION, QUOTE FROM A SPEECH OF THAT GREAT BUSINESS GENERAL, HUGH CHALMERS, FOR WHAT HE SAYS APPLIES TO US ALL WHO CALL JANESVILLE OUR HOME: "WE HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR FROM WALL STREET GAMBLERS; WE ARE THE PEOPLE.—AND IF WE CONTINUE AS INTELLIGENT, SINCERE AND EARNEST MEN, SUCH AS WE ARE HERE, EACH IN HIS OWN WAY SOLVING THE PROBLEMS OF HIS CITY, WE HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR AS LONG AS WE LIVE UP TO THIS NEW CODE OF ETHICS AND CONTINUE TO DO OUR BUSINESS IN THE RIGHT WAY."

ALL ABOARD! JANESVILLE'S WAGON OF PROGRESS IS ON ITS WAY.

BOOST JANESVILLE SEEMS TO BE SPIRIT OF THE HOUR.

SHOULD APPRECIATE CITY

Citizens Will Know What City Has to Offer by Watching the Window Display.

With all the talk and enthusiasm aroused since the announcement that Janesville was to have a three days' exhibition of products, manufactured here, at home, the Gazette considered that it owed its readers a feature story on Janesville.

But the question arose in the editor's sanctum—where, oh where can we get such a story as we have in mind? At last someone spoke up and said: "Why not interview the 'J' in Janesville?"

We did—we have—and here is the interview as we got it from the 'J' in Janesville.

"Have I lived in Janesville very long? No! But I have lived here long enough to have found out that since 1905 this thriving little city has increased six in population. But what care we for population, for think of all the poor deluded people who think they are living by calling some of the many towns throughout the central states their home, instead of actually living in this beautiful little flower city."

"I believe as the man does who moved to this city a few weeks ago. He said that he had visited every city in three states, seeking a suitable place for him to locate an special representative of a certain big concern. He picked Janesville. You know I'm proud of the fact that you call me the 'J' in Janesville. I'd rather be a thousand times the 'J' in Janesville than the 'J' in Detroit or the hard old Rock in Rockford or the Mad son in Madison. Janesville has struck her title—she's been shoved up against the country long enough—she's awake—she's on the road of progress."

Janesville's citizens are getting together—they're changing the time "Halt! Halt! the song's all here; We've got a town without a peer."

We've a live organization called the Industrial and Commercial club whose members number some 100, although that fact is nothing to make a great festival over, for every man who calls Janesville his home should be a member of this bustling club, and so make the membership reach the right number of 200.

Some of the "progressive business men" of this city, I am told, have said that this new club and its secretary would "have a pretty hard time" to do anything in Janesville. Why, certainly they will. I suppose George Washington had an easy time when he crossed the Delaware; Sherman rolled in "easy things" when he marched to the sea; Chicago had a dead easy time outstripping every city in the country but New York in population, commerce and progress. Why, sure, Janesville is going to have just the same kind of an easy time that anyone or any city has that starts a campaign to make the town better and greater, while a few men throw verbal obstacles in the way of this upbuilding movement.

After this grand display week that has been planned for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday is over, the citizens of this city should rise in their might and get busy with a proposition to get a big modern hospital. The Sisters have conducted a Mercy hospital ably and rightly, and now it is about time that they were presented with a fine, big building such as a prosperous city like Janesville deserves and certainly needs.

Then again that subject of lighting the streets down town with posts should be initiated and brought to a head. Artistic street posts can be erected and maintained at a very small cost per foot. Let's light our down town district in a metropolitan style, so that the words of that old song, "I'm afraid to go home in the dark," will be lost as an excuse for staying out late.

Then why not ENFORCE an anti-spitting ordinance—start in that way to keep the sidewalks CLEAN. Women do not like to have to walk around town, shopping, on sidewalks that are foul and dirty.

Then while this is taking place let's do something about our Rock river. In an advertisement of Little Rock, Ark., it says: "Freight rates are low, being based on WATER RATES." Ask yourself if it will pay to do something with this little river, if OUR FREIGHT rates can be REDUCED.

Janesville impresses me as being much larger than the census report show. Her people are well dressed and intelligent. The farmers that you see on the streets are clean-cut people who know something. The retail stores impress me very favorably for they all carry good, new stocks. The manufacturers are, so I understand, live, wide-awake business men who are out after business strictly according to all ethical customs of trade.

When I drive about Janesville and meet her business men I cannot understand how anyone could ever do otherwise than work for Janesville, for for Janesville and believe in Janesville.

With the right spirit back of the Commercial Club I can see ahead ten years and see myself reading the census returns for Janesville—the figures are a little blurred but they look like 20,000—why not?

Well, good night—smoke a pipe over this and maybe you will dream the dreams I dream, and get out with the other boosters and boost Janesville and help make the dreams come true.

Hopeful.
"I begin to realize," said young Mr. Yellow, "that I am no longer a mere youth, now that I've got a little hair on my lip." "Yes," said Miss Pert, "and I suppose in a month or so you'll have another one."—Philadelphia Press.

"You have a flush that's rather hectic," in gloomy tones the doctors say; "moreover you are apoplectic, and ought to live on prairie hay. Rich grub will kill you if you eat it—it's brought you to an evil end; and if you eat more, you'll surely die. It's out to the fields and there eat it, and when one who has the price of steak must fill his inner works with cabbage and sweetshanks until they ache. The Woezy Willie in the city, without a nickel in his jeans, stands starving—ah me, what a pity!—before the baker's window panes; he sees the cakes piled up in hummocks, the pies, the doughnuts and the bread, but they were made for others' stomachs, and Willie wishes he were dead. His lot, you'll say, is not delightful; he sounds the lower depths of woe; but I contend it's far more frightful, to have a pocket full of dough, to have all kinds of cash—red nickels, and have the doctors come and say: 'You'll have to live on shaw and pickles, and beans and squash and beans and hay!'"

NEW USE FOUND FOR SNAKES

Farmer in Ohio Discovers Them Clearing the Potato Bugs From His Patch.

Farmers in various sections of the country have for a number of years declared snakes that are non-poisonous are very valuable to the farmers. They say the reptiles are very good at catching field mice, rats and even the frisky ground squirrels that are so very destructive to fields of newly planted grain.

But the latest use for the ugly reptiles has just been discovered in Harrison county, Ohio, a few miles east of the historic town of Cadiz, where Charles Albright, who is farming the lands of Samuel K. McLaughlin, found a rather snake eating potato bugs.

Albright was out in the field destroying the bugs, which are quite plentiful, and coming upon a snake called up in a potato plant, he secured a club and killed it. In a few moments he discovered the top of an other potato plant swaying back and forth, and looking closely, discovered another snake of the same variety coiled up in the branches of the thrifty plant.

He was interested to know why these reptiles should be occupying such a strange position, and after watching for a short time he saw the snake pick off and devour dozens of the troublesome potato bugs. He did not kill the reptile, and he says he will not allow any of these snakes to be harmed on the land he has charge of, for he thinks they have become very useful.

Heart to Heart Talks.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Variety is the spice of life. Therefore spice it! Do you wake up with a grouchy feeling that your life is a daily humdrum of monotony, dreading the tedious hours ahead of you?

Well, you can spice it. You can yawn and growl and vlow the prospect with apathy or with disgust. You can sit down in early mood to your breakfast, munching no word save that of complaint. You can get up and kick the dog, and yell "cat" at Tibbie, and slam yourself out of the door and scowl yourself down the street.

That would afford variety. Or— When you wake up you can say, "It's only eight hours and then back home again." Notice the difference in the mental point of view.

In the kitchen wife is getting breakfast. Not much variety in that. Suppose you introduce some. Slide up to the wife and kiss her and tell her she is the best ever, which may surprise her some, but that is variety, is it not?

Go to the children's bedroom. Instead of yelling them out of bed, calling them lazy sleepheads who will grow up to be m'ber-de-wells, romp them out of bed! What fun for the children and variety for you!

That's spice. Herd the kiddies down to breakfast, staking at the head of the procession, they sedately keeping step in their nightgowns. Tell mother to sit down at the table and eat with the rest. Set the coffee yourself and bring in the breakfast food in high waiter style, making the kiddies laugh and mother smile.

That's variety for you.

And don't forget to brag a little concerning mother's cooking, which, maybe, will be another variation from the usual monotony of your life.

Crack a joke at Johnny. Pass Katie a show wink. Chuck the baby under the chin. Make the dog stand on his hind legs and beg for a bite. Stroke Tibbie the right way. And then—

When you have kissed the whole bunch go out with a glorious morning face, chin up, to your work. Select a new route downtown for variety's sake. And—

Life a humdrum?

Not to you.

"God! in his heaven! All's right with the world," says Broadway.

A GIRL'S WARDROBE

ALWAYS NEEDS SOME ADDITIONS IN MIDSUMMER.

Dame Fashion Decries That the Children Shall Not Be Too Elaborately Dressed in Hot Weather—White Frocks.

A growing girl's wardrobe always needs some additions in midsummer time, for the hot weather, if nothing else, demands a change of style and material. The mamma has to look up seasonable effects for these supplementary dresses, which last—

The hostess marked these signs of incipient boredom, which became more plainly evident each day, and at last in despair she took counsel with one of her guests, an old and experienced yachtsman.

"What on earth shall I do to amuse those people?" she asked.

The yachtsman looked at the serene sky and calm, blue water, and shook his head doubtfully.

"A storm would enliven them up a bit," he said, "but the weather looks quite settled. There is only one thing to be done. You must arrange a breakdown, the engineer will manage that all right for you. He has probably often done so before. Then you must make for the nearest port for repairs, and let your guests have a run ashore. Some of them, I expect, will find an excuse for bidding you goodbye and those who remain with you will get along all right together."

growing, some special occasion or forgetfulness at the beginning of summer has made necessary, will do well to consider the last trend of fashion. This is for collarless bodices, elbow sleeves and either the daintiest of wash materials, or also summer silks of a childlike simplicity. "Thou shalt not be too fine," is Dame Fashion's first commandment in hot weather to the child, however well placed. White frocks are in her dearest favor, or else she prescribes colors of a flower delicacy and such dainty trimmings as would be suitable, on a smaller scale, for dolls. The bells or piques—doll and baby—styles now distinguish all the best garments in every department, worn by well-dressed little girls.

In both wash materials and summer silks there are now fabulous bargains to be found in the shops, some of those in the very newest textures, whether shown in remnants or in the piece. French percales in a soft, fine weave have dropped to the low price of 15 cents a yard; silk-warp dotted chiffons—likewise a cotton material—are going at 25 cents; Swiss pongettes—which is an English fabric much used for the little imported frocks—also sells for 25 cents. This is 45 inches wide, so a very small quantity would be needed for the simple little frock.

Polka-dot handkerchief muslin—sometimes with delicate flower sprays over the dotting—which is a delightfully cool fabric, is 18 cents a yard, and there are silk and cotton crepes of French manufacture—which may be made most attractive with ribbon trimmings, priced 28 cents the yard. These are in every color of the rainbow, and they may be trimmed with white lace or have the ribbon garniture match.

Indeed there is no excuse for misery not having a fine little hot weather frock if her mother can sew, for all the models are simple to an astonishing degree, and with a little taste a very small expenditure will turn out the right thing.

The dress shown in the illustration, which has a Gibson bodice with Dutch neck and a skirt in box pleats, is here made of a blue and white percale, with a little white linen treated to simple hand embroidery on the bodice. All-over Hamburg embroidery, however, could very well be used here, or the waist trimming could be made in a plain color.

For a girl of ten 6 1/2 yards, 27 inches wide would be required, and since very few little percales may be had for 12 1/2 cents, and really beautiful in section for 15, it can be seen how cheap the dress would be.

A heavy linen or silk with some body would likewise respond to this treatment, lace or a contrasting silk trimming the latter texture and Hamburg embroidery the former.

TALE OF YACHTING CRUISE

How a Hostess Arranged a Breakdown and Got Rid of Her Bored Guests.

A few seasons back a well-known hostess chartered a splendid yacht for August and invited a large number of her friends for a three-week cruise. At first all went well, though the party was not specially well assorted; but after a few days they began to evince signs of being somewhat bored with each other's company.

The hostess marked these signs of incipient boredom, which became more plainly evident each day, and at last in despair she took counsel with one of her guests, an old and experienced yachtsman.

"What on earth shall I do to amuse those people?" she asked.

The yachtsman looked at the serene sky and calm, blue water, and shook his head doubtfully.

"A storm would enliven them up a bit," he said, "but the weather looks quite settled. There is only one thing to be done. You must arrange a breakdown, the engineer will manage that all right for you. He has probably often done so before. Then you must make for the nearest port for repairs, and let your guests have a run ashore. Some of them, I expect, will find an excuse for bidding you goodbye and those who remain with you will get along all right together."

The hostess took her guest's advice, and arrived at Toulon a day later, where half twenty of her guests bid her goodbye.—M. A. P.

Lightning Causes Big Fire Losses

Seventy-Five Per Cent. of Conflagrations Due to Lightning

Statistics gathered from reports of insurance companies all over the country show that 75 per cent of their fire losses are caused by lightning. This may seem a large percentage and it is a large percentage when one stops to consider that these losses and that damage caused by lightning are unnecessary. State Fire Marshal Purcell in his annual report for 1907 says:

"There seems to be a growing impression among those who have given this subject serious thought that the lightning rod of today is, when properly erected, a positive protection, and this at a very reasonable cost. While a very limited number of companies seem to look upon the lightning rod from the position which governed a few years ago, that the lightning rod and the lightning rod agent were in the nature of a confidence game and were to be shunned; by far the larger number express positive conviction that a great saving could be made if there was a more general use of the lightning rod."

A secretary of one of the companies makes the statement that in 33 years their company has never sustained a loss on a building which was properly rod-d. The secretary of another company says that in the past 32 years they have paid but three damage losses upon buildings which were protected, of $20, $10 and $5 each. Still another says that he has been agent for a company for 32 years, which company has a risk of $1,500,000 and in that time they have never had a building fired by lightning which was protected.

"From a careful investigation of the methods used, I am convinced that the lightning rod companies of today are substantial and that they aim to give the best protection for the least possible cost."

A building properly rod-ded with a good copper rod is absolutely safe. Does it pay to risk total destruction of your property when the cost of absolute protection is less than $5.00 per building and this protection lasts you every day for a lifetime?

FACTS AND FIGURES
Why Mutual Insurance Companies Indorse a Good Copper Cable Lightning Rod.

Taken from the books of the secretary of the Farmers' Mutual Ins. Co. of the town of Center, Rock Co., Wis.: "This is a small insurance company carrying from $10,000 to $50,000 risks. Their losses from lightning for the year 1906 was $2,552; for 1907 was $1,500 and for the year 1908 was $41. In 1907 we erected among the farmers of this company about 5,000 feet of cable on their buildings, and in 1908 we had erected about 20,000 feet of lightning rods among the farmers of this locality with the small loss of $14 and this was for stock not in buildings. With practically the same amount of storms and the losses reduced from $2,552 to $14 in two years—we will let the readers draw their own conclusions whether or not it is a profitable investment to protect their buildings with the Copper Cable Lightning Rods that are manufactured at Janesville, Wis. Surely the above figures are convincing that a pure copper rod is a fine thing to have on your buildings in time of a storm. Statistics show that 75 out of every 100 barns that are struck by lightning are fired, and a barn fired by lightning is invariably a total loss."

The Owen Lightning Rod Co. of this city has been engaged in the lightning rod business for more than 20 years, coming here from Postville, Iowa. Since the firm was started they have been working toward one end and that has been "The greatest possible protection at the lowest possible cost," and judging from the volume of business that end has been attained.

The Owen rod is composed of 28 separate strands of pure Lake Superior copper wire wound around a spiral copper core. This rod is the best and most scientific has been proven by tests without number. The business has doubled in the past year. This volume of business can only be attributed to the high grade satisfactory work that has been turned out by one of the liveliest and most progressive concerns in Janesville.

Better Look Outside.

If you want to make the best of your life, don't spend much time in looking within and wondering if your feelings are all right, says Home Chat. Look outside instead, and see what you are doing for others, what you are saying about other people, how you are behaving to those around you. If you are behaving kindly and truly to your neighbor you will not go far wrong.

MONEY IN CHICKENS

Proper Feeding With Helm's Private Formulae Produce Desired Results.

Miniature Grist Mill in Operation in Show Window.

The business of raising chickens has become an art, as the successful chicken fancier or poultry man must study not only his product but the ways and means for producing eggs at such times as ordinary chickens refuse to lay. The person who knows the right kind of food for the poultry is usually very successful and is able to make a good financial showing at the end of the year.

The state laws require now that the dealer in chicken feed must be licensed for proper mixing of feeds. The Helms Seed Store is licensed by the state and has prepared, after having tested them carefully, formulae which have become very successful in bringing out the desired qualities in poultry.

This firm is making quite an extensive window display for the "Made in Janesville Week," having built a miniature grist mill which will operate continuously during the entire show. There will also be a most interesting display of the many products which they manufacture as well as of the complete lines of articles handled.

The foods for the poultry are known as Scratch Feed, Poultry Mash, Chick Starter, Chick Developer and since the first of January this year over 50,000 pounds, this means 25 tons of Scratch Feed, have been mixed and sold.

A good food and one which is meeting with extreme success is the Helms Poultry Mash. Chickens peened up need more than just the simple grains. The mash supplies what the grains lack and what chickens would secure were they digging around in the ground. One man in speaking of the Helms Poultry Mash said that his chickens began to look somewhat worried and he thought of buying some poultry remedy for them. He decided, however, to feed them some Poultry Mash and he found it to be the best thing he had ever known of. The chickens became healthy and contented and he found that the Poultry Mash was the best combination he had ever used. This man is one of the large chicken fanciers of this section and his experience can be taken with considerable weight.

The breeders of fancy stock are partial to the Helms Feeds. In fact, 90 per cent of the officers of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association are users of them. In an interview recently with a man prominent as a chicken raiser in this city he spoke of the quality of this feed as being 100 per cent pure; he said that the chickens ate every bit of the feed thrown to them, which shows that no filler is used in the mixture.

Pleasant breeding and feeding has become a matter of no little importance and for the benefit of fanciers of these birds a formula from one of the prominent fanciers has been produced by the Helms Seed Store for pleaser feeding. It has met with a ready call and is giving splendid satisfaction.

All the grains and feeds put on the market are re-cleaned in their own mill so that there is no question as to high quality of the ingredients.

The Helms Seed Store has been in business for 43 years but only since the fall of 1908 have they been in the feed business. Its growth has been very satisfactory at that time. It has only been within the past year that pleaser feed formulae have been used. It is surprising to know that there are so many seeds and remedies for poultry, such as grit, charcoal, feeds, mashes and special preparations, approximately fifty kinds in all. A small mill for mixing special receipts to meet the demand of those who desire a particular formula put up, is a part of the equipment of this store and all remedies for poultry and stock can be secured here, also watering formulas, leg-bands, and in fact everything that has to do with poultry and stock.

Walter Helms has been known as the pioneer seed man of this part of the country and with his son, Ned C. Helms, the Helms Seed Store has achieved a success and prominence of flattering proportions.

Quality Buckwheat Flour Is Blue Cross

The real ston pure old style buckwheat flour in the crisp, delicious buckwheat cakes makes about as toothsome breakfast suggestion as can come to the mind of the average individual. For some 25 years the Blue Cross Buckwheat Flour has been the standby of the housewife. Inherent in the best of cool weather needs. Selected buckwheat made in flour by the miller who knows how is Blue Cross. Its reputation has gone beyond the limits of this city and the capacity of an up-to-date mill with a daily output of 75 barrels is strained at times to care for the demand. The Blue Cross name attached to a package of Graham flour, corn meal or rye flour carries with it the same mark of quality. The fact that no middleman or jobber enters into the business transaction makes it possible for the busy miller with its direct mill orders to dispense of its product at a considerably saving to the consumer. Shipments are made to points in Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas. E. P. Doty, the proprietor, has been at the head of the concern for many years and through his expert knowledge and experience has grown an enviable business with a reputation for the highest quality of goods.

And now Boston is trying to find out why the city spends $3 more a head for its inhabitants than any other city in the United States, and all sorts of excuses are being given by those responsible for the heavy outlay. Garmur, a Janesville Made Cigar, Popular Among Local Smokers

Delaney & Murphy's Product Known and Liked All Over Rock County.

Using nothing but the very best tobacco leaf obtainable, employing only expert cigar makers to produce a cigar of the very highest quality, Delaney & Murphy have built up an extensive demand for their Garmur cigar in Janesville and surrounding territory to a radius of over 50 miles.

The name "Garmur" has since its inception become synonymous with a "delightful smoke" and has increasing hosts of friends judging from the large number sold each year, which approximates 500,000.

It keeps six expert cigar makers busy all the year round turning out the Garmur cigars. They work in large, well lighted, sanitary workrooms located on the second floor at No. 116 Corn Exchange.

Wisconsin tobacco, known as the best for the purpose, is used for the binder, the wrapper is of the finest Connecticut Broad Leaf, and the filler is of high-grade Sumatra leaf.

An exclusive method of mellowing the leaf is used, which imparts to the cigars a rich, pleasant flavor, an exquisite fragrance that enhances the discriminating cigar smoker.

There is also a smaller edition of the Garmur cigar called the Little Garmur, of exactly the same quality as the Garmur, but sells for five cents. Garmur cigars will be given a splendid display at Sutherland's Book Store on South Main St., during the "Made in Janesville" week. Both sizes of the cigars will be shown.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

Tears and the Fairy

THE twins were ready for a frolic when they went to bed last night—so eager for their next adventure that they could hardly go to sleep at all.

You may imagine how they felt, when the merry mice tickled them awake at midnight, to see the raindrops sparkling on Willy Whalingmouse's raincoat and his Uncle's umbrella. Davy's mouth drew down at the corners and something made the corners of Dorfy's eyes sparkle almost like the raincoat.

"What's this, what's this?" The Tickle-mouse gave her a sharp glance as he turned to shut the window, for the rain was pouring in. "What are my Sleepy-land Twins looking so cross about—ticked out of the wrong side of the bed, or what?"

"Well, I don't care, I think it's just too mean!" pointed Dorfy. "We're just wild to go out for another adventure tonight, and look at that window!"

The mouse did look at the window, across which the bright drops were slowly stealing. "Yes, a very pretty sight—Fairyland's even better than the Sleepyland world, don't you think?" "Fairyland!" The twins stared at the drops on the window pane. "Where?"

The mouse tickled the window with a gentle paw—and suddenly they saw a lovely little fairy, all white and gold and dewy spangles, flitting across the pane with a crystal bottle in her dainty hand. "Look sharp!" whispered the Tickle-mouse, and they held their breath as they watched her. Swiftly she gathered up one of the glittering raindrops, poised it in her slender fingertips, and slipped it carefully into the bottle. Then another, and a third. She looked up, saw the twins and inside—still separate.

"What are they, your majesty?" Willy spoke very politely.

"Tears—the tears of three. Like to look at one?" She poured one round tear-drop into Willy's paw. "Now watch!" She waved her magic wand. The tear grew and spread till it covered Willy's paw, covered the whole table-top, and glistened like a tiny ocean. Gay little ships were sailing across it, crowded with happy little fairies. Their soft, merry laughter sounded like the faint tinkle of silvery bells.

"And whose tear is it?" asked the Tickle-mouse.

"A little girl's," answered the fairy sadly, stealing a sidelong glance at Dorfy. "She found fault with the weather and cried when the good fairies wanted her to smile. And that's what gives the bad fairies just the chance they've been waiting for. Look!"

Across the sparkling sea came a pirate ship—a long, low, rakish craft flying a black flag. Like a cannonball she struck the fairy pleasure-boats, and like hurled bullets they sank amid the sobbing cries of the good fairies. The fairy waved her wand, popped her crystal stopper back into the tiny bottle and the sea was gone.

"Two tears left!" she said softly. "I must show these to our Queen—if she's willing I'll bring them back tomorrow night. Good night, then! And with a flash of the magic wand she vanished through the window pane into the storm.

Pride of Opinion.

Pride of opinion is perhaps the most common fault of us fairly educated and intelligent moderns. We form our judgments and then, as it were, defy anyone to change them. It is said that no one has ever been converted by abstract argument.

At the time of the great disaster in Murthique, the Italian bark Orsoline was taking on a cargo of sugar there. Her captain was accustomed to volcanoes and he did not like the appearance of Mount Pelee. Not half his cargo was on board, but he decided to sail for home.

"The volcano is all right," argued the shippers. "Finish your loading." "I don't know anything about Mount Pelee," said the captain. "But if Volcanus looked that way I'd get out of Naples, and I'm going to get right out of here."

The shippers threatened him with arrest. They sent customs officers to detain him, but the captain persisted in leaving. Twenty-four hours later the shippers and the customs officers lay dead in the ruins of St. Pierre. Kate Upson Clark, in the Christian Herald.

Owes Fame to Childish Friends.

Everybody knows that Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice in Wonderland," was an Oxford don—Rev. C. H. Dodgson—and that he looked more like the high-and-dry old mathematician than the author of children's books. Yet he had certain childish friends, and to these on their country walks he told the "Alice" adventures which he afterwards made into a book. But had it not been for the importunities of the children this great masterpiece would have died. He learned don thought nothing of it. Nevertheless, it will keep his name alive as long as the English language is spoken.

WOMAN AND HER INSTINCTS.

She Will Follow the Law of Her Nature Because She Cannot Help It.

Women will follow the law of their nature, not because masculine or "womanly" arguments convince them, but because it was there before they were; they can no more help it than they can stop their hearts from beating; they have no more choice in the matter than they have in regard to having hands and feet, nor as much. Quite as amenable to the underlying laws of life are the older and sterner members of womankind who chatter on platforms about women's rights. When this kind fall, they fall like Lucifer. I have even observed, though I realize that it will take several years before man finds this out, that the strongest-minded women are usually the ones capable of the strongest of fictions, the most apparently unsexed often, in the deepest sense, the most womanly. The instinct for motherhood is the primal, indestructible fact of woman's life, and professional work, university life, even—even the ballets are not going to change it, any more than the present style in dresses is going to change it. As well be afraid that water will run up hill, that the Hudson will turn and travel back to the Adirondacks, as that the heart of woman, be she short-haired or long-haired, booted and spurred or clad in chiffon, shall be made any way except as it is made, and has been for all time! The swallow to her nest, the river to the sea and the heart of the woman to her child, existent or non-existent. You cannot keep the needle from pointing to the pole, and no amount of good advice will make it point there irrevocably.—Scribner's.

Like Insect Flying.

So far nearly all aeroplanes fly about like insects. The fly makes 200 beats of its tiny wings a second. The propeller perhaps one-third as many revolutions, but the albatross and the frigate bird and the buzzard make at most only three or four beats a second. But albatross and frigate can sustain themselves two or three days without landing between dates. Let's hear of prizes for longer and longer flights on the least gasoline. When the thing gets down to brass tacks it may show that the aeroplane only needs to put on strong power in going up to its aeris. After that it may soar away and use its gasoline only to meet certain unusual conditions in the upper or lower air.

If you don't mind telling me, why is it that you never have a minister of your own race to the knot for you?" Elsha seemed hurt for a moment, but finally a broad smile illumined his features. "Well, sah," he explained, "I hab kluder got de habit ob gettin' a white man to do my marryin', an' I reckon I'll allus do it."

Equal to the Crisis.

The wives of Napoleon III.'s marshals played a great part during and after the second empire. When Marshal Bazaine was planning his escape from the Isle Sainte Marguerite his wife assisted him in the plan and came in the boat to meet him. When General de Cavignone died in exile and disgrace on the Riviera his wife was determined that he should at least be buried in the family vault at Pere La Chaise. In order to accomplish her object, with the aid of a faithful servant who had the corpse arrayed in a huge traveling cloak and lifted into a railway carriage. With such a companion beside her, this woman made the journey alone, in defiance of the law. These women seemed to have been equal to any crisis in which they found themselves.

Janesville Fortunate In Its Milk Supply

Precautionary Methods Employed By Janesville Pure Milk Co.

Nothing adds to the health of any community as does a perfect milk supply and it is a fact that the service and food quality which is being produced by the Janesville Pure Milk Company is not fully appreciated by the people of this city.

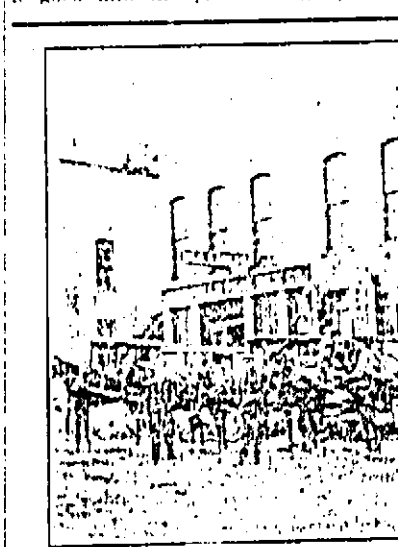

Is it not strange that with all the world's experience, the value of milk as a food is not yet half understood either among farmers or townpeople? The city or village housewife will scribble along on a pint of milk a day when she ought to take two or three quarts simply as a food affording the largest amount of nutriment for the cost involved.

Chemistry declares that a quart of 4% milk contains as much body supporting food as three-fourths of a pound of the best beefsteak. Compare then, the cow with the steer as a food producer. A fairly good cow should yield 3,200 quarts. That would be the equivalent of 2,400 pounds of meat. It takes a good steer to produce 100 pounds of growth a year. Compare the yield of food in its case with that of the cow. Yet people will pay 20 to 25 cents a pound for the beefsteak and think they are grossly ill used if it costs a quart for their milk were changed.

The handling of a city's milk supply has become a scientific problem which has been carefully and successfully worked out by the Messrs. F. B. Gridley and E. H. Craft, proprietors of the Janesville Pure Milk Company.

Every safeguard is provided to insure an unadulterated, sweet, delicious milk. Every approved method of handling the product has been installed and every precaution from the time the milk goes from the herd, in fact, the herd itself, up to the delivery of the milk to the customer has received the care which only experience can make possible.

First of all, all milk handled by the Janesville Pure Milk Company comes from 25 selected herds throughout Rock County. The milk is inspected when it comes to the depot for its sweetness and cleanliness. It is bought by weight and is pasteurized by what is known as the Miller Process which is considered the best of several of the good methods now upon the market. Every drop of milk is strained through bolting cloth before it goes into the machine recently patented and again it is strained before it goes into the pasteurizing plant.

Still again it is strained before it goes into the bottling machine and when produced to understand how the day's bottle is sealed with the anti-work can be accomplished in a given time. The entire process is carried on with the aid of machinery which minimizes each operation to the fewest possible.

The entire cleanliness of the establishment is a feature which is interesting to the person particular about sanitation.

Live steam forms an important part in producing these sanitary conditions. Every utensil, every piece of machinery, every bottle, in fact the entire depot is subjected to a bath of live steam after the morning work is over.

When one considers that 1600 families are supplied with milk each day and that the delivery must be made at moments possible. For instance, the latest process known as the Davis Milking Machine which fills 12 bottles at one time, is used, and as fast as they are ready they are moved to a milking machine where they receive the final washed sanitary stopper which makes the bottle practically air tight.

A wonderful piece of machinery is the washing apparatus recently installed.

Every bottle is thoroughly washed in hot water 140 degrees by a machine which forces it into the bottles under tremendous pressure three different times during the washing; then the bottles are scalded by the same method with water 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

The state laws require that milk shall be three per cent butter fat. The milk of the Janesville Pure Milk Company's product has proven to be about four per cent. The law also requires that cream be 18 per cent butter fat while the cream disposed of from this plant will average 30 per cent. This shows that the quality of the Janesville Pure Milk Company's products are far above the average.

The present owners of the Janesville Pure Milk Company, Messrs. Gridley & Craft, took over the business from the Shurtliff Company in 1904 and moved into their present location at 22 N. Huff St. in December of that year. Since then the business has been doubled and is increasing rapidly each month.

Patrons are supplied with butter and buttermilk and many people find it a great convenience to have their butter requirements delivered with their milk. The quality of the butter handled is of the best.

DEvised BY YOUNG STUDENT

Simple Iron Platform Applicable Especially to Skyscraper—Cable Prevents Swaying.

Men working on structural steel, masonry, and the building trades generally will tell you that they have no sense of heights. They walk along the top of an I-beam or a slender ledge of masonry as easily as they walk along a two foot beam on the ground.

On an average, every large building in process of construction costs a life, to say nothing of the minor injuries. But ordinarily when a steel structure man is killed something goes wrong with the derrick, a rope slips, a cable parts, or a donkey engine driving it makes a mistake, throwing the worker from the carrier which he trusts to the fall of his confidence.

A student in the University of Chicago is applying for patent papers to secure to him rights to the simple iron platform that is applicable especially to the skyscraper. His cables are of a length allowing of 100 foot stretches; the flooring of the scaffold may be of iron or steel; a cable suspends the scaffold at each end and may be loaded with any building material according to needed size. This whose structure is suspended from the floor above and a ratchet wheel at each end of the platform is moved up or down by workmen at the wheels. The outward cable prevents any swaying from the wind or from movements of men on the platform, while from the scaffolding brickwork, stonework or steelwork may be placed from the outside accurately and without danger.

In washing the enameled white brick of buildings or in painting them, the device is said to be most valuable. The machines were tested recently on the new Sherman house, in Chicago.

HANDY LUNCH CABINET

Gas Stove and Table Fold Away When They Are Not Needed.

A lunch cabinet that is useful in hotels, tourist cars and other places where room is at a premium has been designed by a California man. When not in use it is folded away in a compact case. When needed it is unfolded and the table is set out for a table. Above the top is a series of drawers to hold small articles of food and condiments. Below this is a shelf which can be raised or lowered by those who sit at the table. This shelf, if it were, could be raised to the top of the front of the cabinet and let down the same as the front of a sitting desk. The lower part of the cabinet is divided into several sections, one of which can be fixed with porcelain or other and serve as a refrigerator if need be. The gas stove is mounted on runways and slides in and out of the upper portion of the device. A folding leg supports the front and when it is drawn out for use and a door at the side of the cabinet opens to permit of its removal and ingress. It does not require much imagination to grasp the numerous possibilities of this invention.

Plain Speech Should Survive.

It is the speech of the plain people that we would preserve. The early settlers were not given to much talking, and their vocabulary was small, but they never failed to express themselves so that their meaning was perfectly clear. In the mountain country of the south they preserve to this day many of the ancient idioms, and use words which even the most active of our lexicographers have not caught.

And Always Better Received.

A little encouragement is better than any amount of lecturing.

Janesville Has a Fast Growing Rug Factory

Worn Out Carpets Made Into Beautiful Rugs At But Small Cost.

To make two blades of grass grow where but one blade grew before is indeed highly commendable and every city should be forced to boast of an industry able to do this. To make new, beautiful, luxurious, fluffy rugs from worn out carpets is surely doing a good work.

The Janesville Rug Co. was organized in February, 1905, for just this purpose. The first rug is of recent manufacture. It is peculiarly suited for bed rooms, halls, living rooms, etc., because of its heavy texture and long wearing qualities. The cost of making is but small considering, of course, that the old carpets are practically worthless.

Spade for Mixing Concrete.

For mixing concrete a spade has been invented with long oval holes in the blade, the perforation allowing the finer cement to flow through and give the face a finer finish.

How the Rugs are Made.

The carpets are first thoroughly cleaned by rotary wheel or vacuum process; then cut by machinery, each piece being of uniform width.

The next process of fraying is done by perfected machinery which

Phenomenal Business Growth

Experience and Quality Make Combination In the Rapid Upbuilding of Nichols Harness Co.

Master Brand Harness, "Guaranteed by the maker" was first made in February, 1909, by the J. C. Nichols Co. of this city. It is a good conservative line of harness and embraces all the good features of the best makers in the country together with some exclusive ideas of the maker J. C. Nichols.

The growth of this concern has been remarkable, and the whole story, in competition, with some of the largest of its success may be told in one word (Quality). From a business of $28,000 the first year to $100,000 the second year, is a record that may well make all competitors sit up and take notice. The business of the J. C. Nichols Co. is represented in five states, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Northern Indiana of Michigan. The cutting room is in direct charge of Mr. J. C. Nichols, the president, who was for 6 years, Dept. Manager for Walcott South Co., of Milwaukee and for ten years, foreman of the harness department of Bassett & Echlin of this city. This practical experience and good judgment, in the most vital part of the business is in no small measure responsible for the perfection of Master Brand Harness.

The factory is known as one of the best equipped plants for the making of harness in the country. Every

What Molasses Feed Does For Stock and Poultry

Janesville Produces the Best in the World. Story of L. H. Case's Experiments and Success.

Few owners of stock or poultry realize the value of a good molasses feed. It is only comparatively recently that molasses feed has been recognized for what it is. Careful experiments, extending over a period of years by L. H. Case of this city have demonstrated beyond a doubt that Janesville is producing today molasses stock and chicken feed that is not equaled for quality and production of good results anywhere.

The feed is a composition of corn, barley, bran and molasses and is positively guaranteed to put flesh on all run down, poorly nourished stock, colts, calves, etc. All dairymen know the value of molasses as a feed but none know better than Ex-Gov. Board of Wisconsin, Editor of Herd's Dairyman. Ex-Gov. Board is probably the highest authority in America on feeding and handling the dairy herd.

In a recent speech he said: "I feed my dairy herd a regular ration of molasses every day, and I find that they thrive on it. It makes their flesh put on their hair glossy. It gives red to their appetite and helps their digestion. It increases the quantity and improves the quality of their milk for it puts the cow in good humor and a good humored cow is the best milker. For all these reasons molasses possesses the special property of stimulating the production of milk and in every case a greater production of butter."

Used Locally With Great Success.

That the above statement is true, have used Case's Molasses Feed can testify. They find that it is of such a high quality, that the unconditional guarantee that goes with it is unnecessary.

The Case Feed Mill has been located at 129 Park street since 1901. They operate a hay mill with a daily capacity of 15 tons. The ground feed capacity is 12 tons, and with present facilities the mill can turn out 15 to 20 tons of Molasses Feed a day.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IT OCCURRED to me the other day, after being an unwilling witness at a family scrap, that one of the greatest harmony destroyers in the home is the fixed idea which many people have, that every untoward thing that happens must be somebody's FAULT.

Don't you think maybe there is something in my idea? Perhaps you don't grasp exactly what I mean.

I'll try to elucidate. Big brother puts his bundle of shirts for the laundry out in the hall. Sister in the dark falls over them and breaks the pitcher she is carrying. "It's all Bob's FAULT," she wails, "for leaving those old shirts in the hall for somebody to tumble over."

"Go on!" retorts Bob warily. "It's your own fault for not carrying a lamp or lighting the light so you could see where you were going and not tumble over everything."

Why nobody's FAULT? Why not call it just what it was—an unfortunate accident—and thereby preserve family harmony, which surely is infinitely more important than any little china pitcher?

The other day I saw two young folks half spoil what should have been a perfect holiday outing, just because each insisted on calling an unfortunate accident the other's FAULT.

The husband went back after a magazine which he was particularly anxious to read, and then when the cars were blocked and they missed the train his wife said that if he hadn't gone back for that magazine they could have taken the train and they would surely have gotten the train, and therefore, it was her FAULT.

And in the time of rectitudinous and temper that followed, the beauty and brightness of the perfect autumn morning was clouded and the edge taken off that childlike delight in a park with which they had fared forth together.

All of which wouldn't have happened had they both accepted the blockade and the missing of the train as an unfortunate accident, and had not insisted on calling it somebody's FAULT.

Irritating and disturbing little things inevitably happen to all of us. If we try hard enough we can usually find someone to blame for them. But wouldn't it be a happier world if, instead of trying hard enough, we cheerfully accepted such things as nobody's FAULT, just accidents. Seems so to me anyway.

PHYSICIAN THROWS VITRIOL IN FACE OF HIS SWEETHEART.

Miss Laura Lyle Jones, who was attacked by Dr. Walter J. Hennessey with a bottle of vitriol.

San Francisco, Sept.—The beautiful sweetheart of old and because Miss young actress, Miss Laura Lyle Jones, refused to longer accept his attentions, the quarrel occurred in the apartment of the actress and ended with Dr. Hennessey pouring the contents of a quart bottle of vitriol in the young woman's face burning her in a terrible manner. As she fell to the floor, screaming in agony, Hennessey quietly made his escape, but was later captured by the local police. It is thought Miss Jones will recover, but she will always be disfigured.

Dr. Hennessey and Mrs. North Blum, who is charged with being his accomplice, are both awaiting trial at the local city prison.

This incident came in a climax to a quarrel between the doctor and his

EVERY DAY HEROES.

BY MARY HUSSELL. It is your ability to stand up under the little grind of every day life which counts highest in your work of character building. The power to keep serene under petty worries is far more rare and more difficult of attainment than the courage which comes when big occasions offer.

Half the heroic acts of history are either due to lack of time to think or the lack of circumstances. They are not acts of deliberate choice save in a few great and epic instances. The daily effort at self-control is a conscious act and often one of far greater effort than some that have made men famous.

The little heroes and heroines are the most numerous, but theiruster be obscured by our complacent belief that they do the things they do. We actually hug the bell to our souls that these silent heroines and heroes are rather selfish as, after all, they are not gratifying their own desires—and "they love to do things for others."

I wonder if this is true? Have you not seen it in your own home—this beautiful self-control and selflessness? It is one of the finest wheels in the domestic machinery.

Look back and compare the patient woman who does all the drudgery of a home with a serene happiness, with the bright-faced, hopeful, joyous, impetuous girl of a decade or so ago. Do you not know that she has been schooled in life's great university and become a master of arts of the highest degree? She has mastered herself and brought blessings where she might so easily have created discord.

Another marvelous change in mankind that is of daily occurrence is that which changes a careless young man into the earnest and hopeful head of a family. Almost as soon as the wedding ceremony is ended the staid behavior and steady purposes of his become apparent. In a few years all an honest man's thought and hopes of happiness become centered in the little spot he calls home. His wife and his children are the whole world to him and he is changed from the careless, reckless young of a few years previous.

It is a sort of heroism after all which makes a man out of a boy. It is the desire to do for someone else which creates a fine fiber in his being. He grows in soul as he widens his heart to hold some other than himself. Is this done without sacrifice and self-forgetting? Never! The man who makes a good husband must have learned to know when it is wise to sacrifice personal feeling. The woman who is a model wife is she who understands the art of give and take. When discord comes into domestic relations it is usually due to a thought on the part of either husband or wife that "take" is all that is required. Then comes a rift and the music of love is mute.

If we would only open our eyes and see the loving self-sacrifices—if we would only open our lips and say the word of appreciation—if we would only open our hearts to the impulse to take our share of the rough side of life as well as the pleasant, we would be on the road to greater domestic happiness. If only!

Are you allowing the greatest opportunity for happiness to slip away while you seek riches or power in some other sphere of action? Then end will be your awaiting.

INDEED, THEY DO

Strange Hobby.

William James, probate court deputy, tells of a post extraordinary that comes about that office. She is a woman, a middle-aged, heavy-jowled person, who comes around shortly after she has read in the paper of the death of a prominent man. And she comes because she wants to read the dead man's will as soon as it is probated. She has no hopes of receiving a bequest in any of the wills. She just likes to look them over. Reading wills is her hobby.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Memorial to a Discoverer.

The town hall of Lunenburg, in Hanover, contains a touching memorial to a pig who breathed his last three hundred years ago. This consists of a handsome glass case enclosing a ham in excellent preservation, and underneath a black marble tablet, with the following inscription in gold letters: "Passers by, here you behold the mortal remains of the pig which acquired for itself the imperishable glory by the discovery of the salt springs of Lunenburg."

Grotesque Mementoes.

The king of Spain is said to possess a rather gruesome museum—nothing less than a collection of articles associated with attempts on his life. Included in the collection are the knife with which a man attempted to assassinate him when he was a boy, the skin of a horse that was killed by a bomb when the king was out driving in the streets of Paris, and some mementoes of the outrage in Madrid on the day of his majesty's wedding.

Spilled It for Him.

Mr. Clarke's butler had asked for a night off, for the purpose, as he explained, of attending a ball in the village. The next day Mr. Clarke asked him how he had enjoyed himself. "Oh, pretty good, sir, thank you," was the response. "It would have been better if it hadn't been for the women. I can't abide women at a ball."

Had Fondness for Sweet Things.

Old-time inhabitants of England had a decidedly sweeter tooth than most moderns have. In Tudor days it was the general practice to pour honey over the meat and honey or sugar was used in so many dishes to say nothing of being mingled with the wine that it is on record that the teeth of most people were black in consequence. Most of the old dishes would be too rich today, for oysters were stewed in wine, pigeons stuffed with gooseberries, grapes, dolled in butter and mutton was stuffed with oysters.

The Web of Life.

The web of our life is a mingled yarn, good and ill together; our virtues would be proud if our faults whipped them out; and our crimes would despair if they were not cherished by our virtues.—Rochford.

Janesville Made Cotton Bats Advertised the World Over

Big Local Concern, Little Known in Janesville, Does Big Things Quietly.

There are a number of large enterprises in Janesville which are not often heard of in a public way, yet are among the largest producers of their particular line of goods in the world. Such concerns as these are accomplishing much for the good of the city, and spread the name of Janesville to the four corners of the country and make known the fact that this city is the home of what may be called a number of national industries.

There are few cities in fact that are as fortunate in respect to being the home of nationally advertised articles to the extent that Janesville is. One of these larger manufacturing concerns is the Rock River Cotton Company, which sells its goods throughout the United States and Canada and employs a large force of trained operatives in the manufacture of mattresses, cotton bats, wrapping paper, pillows and cushions. A large force of traveling salesmen represent this product on the road and there are few towns or cities in the field covered in which the Rock River Cotton company's goods are not to be found upon the shelves of the local stores.

The manufacture of cotton bats is one of the principal features of the business and much publicity has been given the leading brand known as the "Crown Jewel" put in the mediums of general circulation. The buildings used for factory purposes occupy almost an entire block and are in themselves an imposing sight lending as they do an air of bigness to the manufacturing part of the city.

In twenty-three years the business has been developed from a small beginning to its present day large proportions and the fact that the Messrs. T. O. and Fred Howe have had the keen foresight and business sagacity to not only keep up with the times but a trifle ahead of them always, taking advantage of every labor-saving device, installing without regard to expense every known improvement for the mechanical operations of the plant, is due to a large extent the present marked success of this institution.

The business is systematized to a fine degree and from the receipt of the raw cotton in its original burlap bale to the placing in the shipping crates the beautiful snow-white long fiber cotton bat, the product goes through a series of operations without a hitch. But few people here know that at times practically a whole railroad of raw cotton is kept in reserve to supply the requirements of the mill.

An exhibition of the Rock River Cotton Co.'s product will be made during the "Made in Janesville" week in the store of F. H. Bauck and will be most interesting.

Hanson Furniture Company a Big Factor in the Industrial Life in Janesville

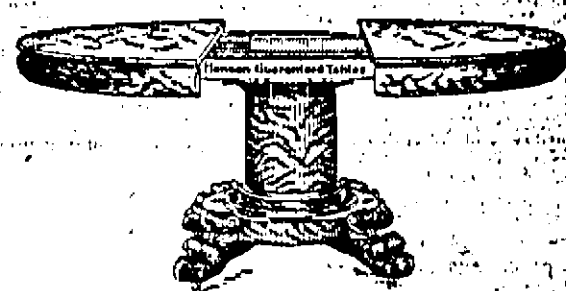

Hanson Non-Dividing Pedestal Extension Tables Sold Far and Wide. They Carry the Name of Janesville All Over the Land.

The quality of the work being done by the Hanson Furniture Company would be a surprise to most people who have never had the opportunity to visit their plant.

During the year 1908—the year of the worst business depression since 1892, the sales of the Hanson Furniture Company were the largest, both in quantity and the highest average price per table, in its history. The year 1908 showed an increase of 15% over 1907 and the present year shows another substantial gain. Such a growth is a convincing proof of the old machinery has been replaced by modern equipment and special machinery has been added until today there are machines enough to equip a plant of twice the size. $12,000.00 has been expended during the past few months for additions and betterments including a new dry kiln system, new power plant, new electric light plant and plans have been made for a new building 65x125 ft., four stories.

the standard quality of their goods and increasing popularity of the Hanson Non-Dividing Pedestal construction. The reason is: Because the Solid Pedestal is in the interest of durability, beauty and convenience. Because Hanson tables are handsome tables—masterpieces of the cabinet maker's art and skill—built on artistic lines and beautifully finished.

Throughout the entire plant there is evidence that the business has outgrown its present capacity. It is easily noted that there is a decided lack of room. Within the past two years

Visitors to the big "Made in Janesville" week will have opportunity to inspect the Hanson product at four different places on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Displays will be made at H. E. McNamara's Hardware store, and at the furniture stores of W. H. Ashcraft, P. D. Kimball and C. B. Pitman.

MANAGING HIM

The young man with the stern expression said "Good-evening" very formally—to the evident surprise of the pretty girl with the big eyes and the infantile expression.

"I want to explain at the start," he began, "that I'm not jealous. I know that when a man objects to anything, a girl always thinks it is because he is jealous. But I wouldn't be guilty of such foolishness. Expressing one's opinion is a far different thing."

"Dear me!" broke in the pretty girl, anxiously, "you aren't going to be cross—and with me—are you, Oscar?"

"That's another thing I hope I don't do," said the young man, shaking his head. "That is, lose my temper. I trust I can say that I don't like a thing or don't approve of it without getting worked up."

The pretty girl leaned forward. "You don't mean," she said, "that I have done something you are objecting to?"

"Some men," went on the stern young man, "would get into a tearing rage with you for acting as you did last evening, but I am different. One of my dances you sat out with that Graham man. I hunted all over for you and saw you as you came out of the conservatory. Apart from the fact that it was my dance I don't like to have you with Graham. He is a cancelled card and I am sure you are half. He must be twice your age, though he doesn't look it."

"And I certainly expected to take you in to supper. After searching for you everywhere I found you, apparently enjoying yourself, oblivious of all else, with Tom Reynolds. You may not have taken that table behind the palms to keep out of sight, but it looked as if you had. And in neither case did you have the grace to apologize or even act upset. You seemed to think it wasn't anything to throw me over without so much as a word because you wanted to flirt with some one else."

"Understand, I'm not jealous of Reynolds and Graham. It's the principle of the thing that I'm objecting to. What there is in Reynolds to attract any one I can't for the life of me see. My feelings aren't hurt, either, but I thought possibly—well, I thought you might have something to say to me if I came around this evening. Otherwise I shouldn't have come."

The pretty girl sighed. "But he was implacable. She looked as innocent as a two-year-old child. 'Why, Oscar,' she began, 'I'm sure I don't see how you can act so! And you are cross. You look as black as—'

"Wasn't that my dance you sat out with Graham?" the young man demanded.

The pretty girl nodded meekly. "Didn't you sit supper with me to go in with Reynolds?" he persisted. "I did have supper with him," admitted the pretty girl.

"Well," thundered the stern young man, "I am quite ready to have the matter explained. It seems to me that since I am engaged to you I have a right. You have treated me abominably and I can't stand everything! It isn't jealousy—it's just simple justice. I might have waited and let you write and explain, but I wanted to make it as easy for you as I could, so I came. And you've done things just as bad before, too."

The pretty girl looked still more aggrieved. "You are not a bit like yourself, Oscar," she said. "What I always admired most in you was your fairness and kindness. And it isn't kind to scold me. You know I can't bear to have any one angry with me. Do you know you are simply splendid when you scold that way? Only you scold me."

The young man tried to look indifferent. "I don't want to frighten you, Laura," he said, magnanimously, "but you must know there are limits. And you haven't explained yet."

"You can't imagine," went on the pretty girl, hunting for her handkerchief, "how it hurts me to have you think I would slight you. You know I never see any one else when you are around. When I see you come into a room I'm always proud to think you belong to me—and now to have you scold me!"

"Now, now, little girl," said the stern young man, pulling away the handkerchief from her eyes, "I wouldn't be cross with you for worlds, and you know it."

"You've got me all upset!" sobbed the pretty girl.

"Maybe I am a little rough," said the young man, contritely. "I am impulsive. Pardon me, please. Don't look so woe-begone. Say you forgive me."

The pretty girl looked at him out of tear-wet eyes. "I forgive you, Oscar," she said, generously. "We won't talk about it any more. I'll just forget it. Of course you didn't realize what you were saying."

"You are the sweetest girl on earth," said the young man, fervently.

It was not until he was almost home some hours later that a thought struck the stern young man. He stopped short in his tracks.

"And she never explained in the least, or said she was sorry!" he cried in dawning amazement. "Now, how on earth did that happen?"

PRINCESS VICTORIA—AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKE AS KAISER'S SON-IN-LAW

Berlin, Sept.—It is reported in connection with the Kaiser's present visit to Vienna that the engagement is being arranged of the Kaiser's only daughter, Victoria Louise, to the Archduke Karl, eldest son of the late Archduke Otto. Archduke Karl would be emperor of Austria following the succession of Franz Ferdinand. There are religious difficulties in the way, as the Archduke Karl is a Roman Catholic.

Princess Victoria Louise, by German tradition, must wed a son of royal birth. Three princes already have sought her hand, but the Kaiser has taken personal charge of her education.

TWIN BROTHERS OF 62 YEARS MARRY TWIN SISTERS OF 22 YEARS.

David and Dallas Pogue and Lulah and Lelah Brown.

Plattsburg, Mo., Sept.—A most remarkable double wedding will be celebrated when David and Dallas Pogue are united in holy wedlock to Lulah and Lelah Brown respectively.

The circumstances are unusual. David and Dallas are twin brothers, who 50 years ago promised one another never to marry unless their brides were twin sisters. Since that time the boys of 50 years ago have prospered and are now wealthy farmers. They have remained single. Last winter, however, they began to take an interest in the Brown sisters, Lulah and Lelah, charming girls and popular throughout the county. The public first learned of this when the brothers began to work night and day for the girls in a voting contest to decide up the most popular young women in the county. The girls won a handsome piano and a valuable diamond ring apiece and the "most popular young woman in the county" received more than a million votes. The Pogue twins have lived alone for years. Since the voting contest their working of the twin sisters has been as ardent as that of most of 25.

The wedding of the remarkable twos is rumored to be scheduled for Christmas of this year.

HOME OF GOVERNOR THURGOOD CHARMING WIFE AND MODEST HOME OF MAINE'S GOVERNOR.

Augusta, Me.—Maine's Democratic governor-elect, Frederick W. Plaford, is not of the aristocratic type, but rather of the conservative New England stock. His modest home is not luxurious, but is attractive to every true American on account of the finer qualities which go to make the real home. No man in New England or the United States is more happily situated than Maine's governor-elect. The charming mistress of the home, Mrs. Frederick Plaford, possesses true womanly instincts which their Smoke.

Don't imagine next time you see in weather providing storm that a "heavy" stratum of air is forcing the smoke of your chimney to the ground. Instead the condition is the opposite and the atmosphere is too light to allow the smoke to rise. To prove this fact in this vacation season fill your mouth full of tobacco smoke and dive in 20 feet of water, releasing the smoke. The smoke appears from the water almost instantly. You may say it comes up in air bubbles, but this does no more than prove the theory. Your chimney smoke won't rise, because there isn't buoyancy enough in the air stratum to raise it.

Keeping Bright.
Said an intelligent woman not long ago, "My grandmother was one of the brightest, sunniest, most up-to-date women I ever met. Her household affairs and family plans seemed to move on as if oil. She was always ready with a quip and quick to brighten life for the rest of us. There was an ancient family joke about 'grandmother's journey.' She would once in a while announce, 'Well, I'm going off on a trip. I need it,' and away she would go, work or convenience to the contrary notwithstanding. She didn't spend so very much or so far, but she would come home bright and cheerful."

BOSTON MAN WAS MUSICAL

Must Have Been, for He Found Nothing Good in Opera Performance in Paris.

"Americans have to have a lot of nerve when they're abroad," said the man who had just returned from his first foreign trip. "I fell in with an American at the Grand hotel in Paris who was on his way to the opera, and, as I was of the same mind, we started together."

"Although it was a fearfully hot night we found the opera house packed—the French, you know, are great on opera."

"Who were the singers?" asked a listener.

"Oh, I don't know—it was a third-rate performance."

"Well, we tried hard to get seats and couldn't—not a thing to be had."

"Well," said my American friend, "I'll be back in a few minutes—I think I can get some tickets," and he returned very soon, waving two tickets aloft which, as it turned out, were complimentary. To obtain complimentary tickets on a night like that was a master stroke. The French would have called it—

"Coup d'état!" suggested some one. "Tour de force!" said another, but no one was quite certain, so he continued:

"He had represented himself to be a director of the Metropolitan Opera company."

"Did he live in New York?" inquired another listener.

"No—Boston—but he was very musical—at least, I think he must have been, for while I'm not enjoying the performance immensely he was exclaiming from time to time, 'Rotten! Rotten! That tenor! That soprano! Awful!'"

Sand and Germs.

Pretty ideas don't always appeal to the experts in hygiene. Kissing, for example, is dangerous, and even that sand provided for children in the parks is not so innocent as it looks. The sand-hopper, with which children are so familiar on the beach, is replaced, according to the gloomy experts, by another kind of hopper. The sand, in a word, when the children have played architects with it for a time adds grittiness to grittiness. This is not necessarily a reflection on the children or the children's parents, for sand, like loose hay and straw, seems to produce crabs out of nowhere. But, after all, sand can be renewed at small cost, and if the economists about too loud let them be invited to take the old sand, it will be as good and criticism after that as when it was new.—London Chronicle.

Janesville Plant Unable to Supply Demand.

C. Gray's Famous Ginger Ale, Pop and Carbonated Waters Sold All Over Southern Wisconsin. Exceptional Merit of Ginger Ale.

Back in 1868 the father of Chas. Gray began the manufacture of Carbonated Waters such as ginger ale, pop and soda water. The plant has always been located at 54 Locust St. Chas. Gray, the proprietor, has grown up in the business, so that he is as near a working part of the institution as it is possible for the human mind and body to become a working part. Mr. Gray has had opportunity seldom accorded any manufacturer to become acquainted with every operation in the manufacture of carbonated water. From the purchase of the raw materials or ingredients down to the point of delivering the finished product to the consumer he has become so familiar with every detail as to make the production and marketing of a perfect article a certainty. The best feature in the up-building of the carbonated water business is the absolute and unvarying adherence to purity and quality. Mr. Gray superintends personally every operation. He knows when he buys his materials that they are pure, and even though he might cheapen the cost by the introduction of inferior ingredients, he believes that the future as well as the past, so far as his business is concerned, is certain of success if he continues the same high standard of quality.

The capacity of the concern is taxed to its utmost all the time and the reputation of the Gray beverages has extended far away from this city. In fact, it is no uncommon thing to hear these people from away speak of the Gray Products as the best they have ever tasted anywhere. In the past few years the home consumption of ginger ale, pop and soda water has increased wonderfully. A mild, temperate, wholesome drink for table or refreshment purposes is provided and most people find it convenient to have a case always on hand.

The Gray ginger ale is recommended by local physicians and is also used in the local hospitals. Ginger ale may be classed as a very healthful drink. The base, ginger, is well known as a stomachic corrective and for that reason it is favored by most everybody. In the making of ginger ale Mr. Gray has indeed struck a happy recipe, as the famous Gray Ginger Ale is second to none in the country. Local people all know this, and the sales are proportionately large. In many of the best homes of the city it is kept constantly on hand.

During the past season the Gray Bottling Works has been almost unable to fill orders. Goods are sold all over Rock county and adjoining counties, and the further increase of the business is only prevented from lack of facilities.

The display of the Gray Bottling Works will be made in the Klug, Cowles & McElroy window. A telephone order today will bring you a case of ginger ale, pop or carbonated water to your home.

Italy Departs.

Italy retains a special form of banishment introduced under the Roman emperors, known as coercio domileto. This punishment corresponds to the Roman deportation to an island, and like it consists in criminals being confined to an island for a definite time and enjoying within its limits personal freedom.

Origin of "Spencer" Overcoat.

Words have been added to the English language as the result of wagers. The third Lord Spencer bet that by cutting off the tail part of his overcoat he could bring into fashion overcoats so short that the skirts of the undercoat would show beneath. He won his wager and "spencer" became the name both of that garment and of the feminine one afterward constructed in its likeness.

Earliest Spectacle.

The ancient Guild of Spectacle Makers, which is located at a recent London County Council building, is numerically one of the strongest of the city companies. Its charter dates from the year 1225 and, though the exact date of its origin is lost, there is ample evidence that the calling of spectacle maker was extensively followed at a very early date. An old book of 1553 mentions the spectacle makers among other trades, and the biography of Carlo Zeno, an illustrious Venetian, who died in 1418, mentions that even at the age of eighty-four he needed no artificial aids to his sight. So presumably spectacles were common in Italy some five centuries ago.

A DISPLAY OF ICE CREAM MAKING

Shurtleff Company to Make It In Big Window

There was a time not many years ago when the ice cream or frozen delicacy if made at all must be turned out by the slow hand crank process, the only known method for producing these delicacies, and the householder usually paid well for his Sunday meal dessert with the muscle spent in the operation of making.

One of the most interesting displays to be made during the "Made in Janesville" week will be that of the Shurtleff Company, which is to be shown in the display window of the Janesville Electric Company on Milwaukee St. bridge. Ice cream will be made while you watch and the process will be so unique to you that you will wonder that human ingenuity could evolve so wonderful a process.

The new process of ice cream making is in the form of a machine especially adapted for the production of a continuous freezer and the complete ready-to-eat ice cream flows from the opposite end ready for the table. The entire operation can be watched so that you may become familiar with the present day method of the up-to-date manufacture of ice cream.

The Shurtleff Company are continually on the lookout for improved and labor saving devices and apparatus for the production of frozen delicacies. Every known idea of value is made use of in the manufacture of the product and every safeguard surrounds the manufacture of these toothsome articles, sanitation being a feature of the concern.

It is almost impossible to secure absolutely pure Vanilla Extract and in order that nothing but pure material shall enter into the making of the ice cream, the Shurtleff Company have found it necessary to make from the raw material their own flavoring extract, taking the vanilla bean and bringing it down through the various processes to the final fluid which is pure and wholesome.

A part of the Shurtleff exhibit will consist of the new flavoring extract and the vanilla beans in their original state will also be shown. The country for miles around is called upon for the cream supply to produce the great quantity of ice cream, butter etc., and the farmers as far west as Mineral Point and south into Illinois, contribute daily to the supply of the raw material. Those of you who have attempted to freeze a gallon of ice cream at home can appreciate perhaps the tremendous capacity of the Shurtleff plant when you consider that the output varies from three to five hundred gallons per day, depending of course upon the season.

One of the reasons for the rapid growth of the Shurtleff Company has been the strict adherence to the motto and that is given in one word: "Purity." The Shurtleff Ice Cream is made from absolutely pure cream which is pasteurized prior to its being made into the custard and the other ingredients used in the cream are equally high in quality.

Shurtleff Ice Cream is made as rich as it is possible to produce good ice cream. There are very few manufacturers who use a very rich cream yet the Shurtleff Ice Cream is made of 21 per cent cream. There is hardly a town, village or city within a radius of 50 miles or more from Janesville in which Shurtleff Ice Cream is not sold. In fact shipments are made to all parts of this state and great quantities are sold in Chicago. The firm of Slogel Cooper & Co. have for some years purchased their entire ice cream supply for use in their pure food cafe from the Shurtleff Company because of the fact that it was impossible to secure an absolutely pure ice cream in Chicago. The raw material used in ice creams in that city is made from chemical powders which are known to be harmful in their effect upon the human system.

A department of considerable importance to the business is the butter making. 1500 pounds of beautiful pure butter made from selected cream is manufactured every day and the greatest part of it is sold in Chicago. Slogel Cooper & Co. have their entire requirements supplied and there are many other Chicago shipments made every day. Every dealer in the city of Janesville handles the Shurtleff butter and it is known to the housewife for its quality.

A little history of the growth of the Shurtleff Company is interesting. Mr. Geo. Shurtleff came to Janesville in 1876 and opened a small restaurant on West Milwaukee St. in which he made his own ice cream and he produced so good a cream that people from all around this part of the country came to eat it. As the demand increased he finally put in a small power freezer and in those days people looked upon his venture as a little short of wonderful. From the little establishment a corporation came into existence. In 1903 and from that small beginning has grown one of the largest ice cream plants in this part of the country.

Their quarters became too cramped a year or so ago and arrangements were made for the building of a beautiful brick and reinforced concrete addition to the plant located on South Main street and this will be equipped with all the modern machinery known to the trade. With the additional floor space a double capacity will be provided so that the tax upon the business can be removed which will mean much in the future development.

Beautiful offices on the South Main St. entrance are provided and the plans are being made to make an aggressive campaign after more business. There is little doubt but that the new addition will be found inadequate for room in a few years as the same motto which has made the large business of the past will be an incentive to additional trade, and the fact that it seems so natural to the Shurtleff Company to make their goods so good that everybody wants them, is an appeal which attracts like magic.

The commercial car industry is said to be in its infancy. That would seem to be true as the demand for these economical and handy conveyances is increasing so rapidly as to denote this fact. Users secure more business and realize the economy and speed in the Monitor automobile truck as compared with that of horse delivery. Many of the people hereabouts are familiar with the Monitor commercial truck, having seen many of them on the streets of Janesville. The bare car without the box is sent out from the factory for a tryout prior to being finished and ready for shipment. The engine, transmission and all the mechanical parts of the car are given severe tests before the car is completed.

The Monitor has recently been opened in Chicago in order that the business of the middle west may be handled to greater advantage. The Mitchell, Lewis, Avery Co. of Portland, Ore., became representatives for that part of the country recently, and have contracted for about 100 cars for the coming season. Shipments have been made to points in all parts of the country. Large orders have been received from cities in the south and southwest and the southern and western field offers a splendid future business for the Monitor trucks.

The Monitor is practically the only direct drive commercial truck known. This and the fact that the engine and transmission employed are of the best procurable, make a combination for splendid results. As a matter of fact, the car has been in use long enough to demonstrate beyond doubt the worth and quality of merit, etc. All the good points of other commercial cars have been embodied, the experiences of the other manufacturers have been taken advantage of, and the many new points of Monitor originally create a perfect car which the test of three years has proven.

The Monitor car will do the work of three horse drawn vehicles at one-half the cost of operation. There is a limit to the amount of work a horse can do, but the commercial car works as much as you desire and when it is idle, there is no upkeep and as an advertisement it attracts attention and has a value which is understood by the active business man.

The usual drawbacks of the average automobile have been eliminated as much as possible and the lowest possible parts are employed and these are the hardest usage. The Monitor

COMING OF A SUDDEN GUEST.

Not Feared by the Woman Who Can Seize the Everyday Larder's Possibilities.

The housekeeper who is quick to seize the possibilities of the everyday larder, with its collections of odds and ends and its plainer viands, need fear no sudden guest, however imposing.

For instance, that half cup of boiled rice that was left over can be converted into a very dainty accompaniment to the meat or fish by stirring it in a cream sauce until heated through, and then grating a little good dairy cheese over the top. Serve with toast fingers.

Or try this plan. Have the rice rather wet, and smooth it out in a baking dish with layers of cheese sliced very, very thin at intervals and a dusting of salt and pepper. Some think a few drops of onion juice dropped on each layer an improvement. Bake until it browns, with cheese and a little bread crumbs on top and serve hot.

When other things fall at the crucial moment the chances are that there will be fresh eggs in the house, and these can be transformed into a very acceptable luncheon dainty as egg crostades.

To prepare them cut a square loaf of bread into slices two inches thick, and scoop out the center of each square, after trimming away any thick crust, of course, so as to form a little box. Fry a nice brown in deep fat, put a raw egg in the middle of each, season and put in a hot oven till set, add a little cheese or a spoonful of white sauce to each. This may figure as the entrée.

One housekeeper who recently received a guest of opulent habits rather unexpectedly found herself with nothing more special than a broiled beefsteak as the main course of her meal.

As it proved, however, no elaborate compound could better have met the taste of the distinguished visitor than the steak as served to him.

It was, of course, delicately broiled and just before serving was sprinkled, after seasoning with salt and pepper, with a tablespoonful each of chopped chives and parsley, and was then rubbed over quickly with a tablespoonful of butter creamed with the same quantity of lemon juice. The unusual, pleasant flavor was immediately detected and commented upon.

The psychic moment for serving is when the butter in the sauce has melted over the meat.

BEEF PIE A L'ITALIENNE

Elaborate and Tempting Recipe for Making This Palatable and Widely Popular Dish.

One pound of cooked beef, six ounces of boiled macaroni, one pound of peeled tomatoes, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one chopped shallot, one tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of stock, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of Worcester sauce, salt and pepper. The macaroni must be boiled till quite tender in boiling salted water, having been broken in inch lengths before being put into the water. Melt the butter in a saucepan, put in the chopped shallot and flour, and brown them carefully. Add the stock, and stir until boiling, then add the Worcester sauce and seasonings. Slice the meat thinly. Butter a casserole, put in a layer of macaroni, then one of meat; sprinkle over a little parsley, and continue these layers till the dish is full. Let the last layer be of macaroni, as this protects the meat from too great heat. Pour in enough of the sauce to about half fill the dish.

Halve and lay the tomatoes all over the top of the pie, and place a piece of butter on the top of this half. Bake the pie till it is very hot and the tomatoes soft, and serve at once.

Split Biscuit.

These are made for supper when bread has been baked in the morning.

Use one pint of dough, risen overnight, of the bread; take one pint of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, four of sugar, one teaspoonful salt and two well beaten eggs. Mix all ingredients in a bowl, cutting the dough with a knife. After the mixing, add a generous quart of sifted flour, knead the dough well and let it stand in a warm place for six hours, when it should be a perfect sponge; work it down well at the end of that time. Sprinkle the molding board well with flour, turn the dough upon the board and roll it down to the thickness of about one-fourth of an inch.

Divide the biscuit into four, cut up the dough with a place half of the cake in a buttered pan, spread a little soft butter on it, take fresh cake from board and put on the top of those already in the pan. Cover with clean towels and set away in rather cold place, about 65 degrees; let biscuits rise until they are about double their original size; it will take about two hours. Bake in rather hot oven for one-half hour. Two good-sized pans of biscuits may be made with ingredients mentioned.

Croak Brewing Co. Placing A New Beer On the Market

Local Firm Have Spent $10,000 Perfecting a New Beer That Is Claimed to Have Exceptional Merit, Being Rich In Food Value and Low In Percentage of Alcohol.

That good beer is a popular beverage is evidenced by the fact that a new beer put on the market within the past two weeks by the Croak Brewing company has increased so much in sales, in that short time as to tax the capacity of the special machinery used in producing it to the utmost. This beer is made for the family trade exclusively. It is highly recommended as being a natural stimulant and digestive, while the high percentage of extracts from the malt contain dextrine and albumen—which are substantial foods—also phosphates which build up bone and brain tissue. The glasses that are incorporated in the fermenting process tends to this beer a marvellously refreshing quality.

This beer is the result of several years of studying how to produce a beer that would be high in food value and low in alcoholic percentage. It has required the installation of new machinery embodying an expenditure of some $10,000. The "City Brewery" conducted by the Croak Brewing Company is the oldest and largest in the city. The plant is large and equipped with all of ery and improvements. It is expected that this year will see even a larger amount spent towards the same end.

There will be a splendid exhibit of the product of this company at C. S. Putnam's on South Main street during the three days of the big "Made in Janesville" week.

The big increase in the business under the present management is due to the excellence of their product and the business ability of the two members of the firm, Wm. J. Croak and Frank P. Croak, men who understand every detail of the brewery industry.

An Industry That Janesville Is Proud Of

Colvin's Baking Co., the Most Sanitary and Best Equipped Plant in the State—Modern Methods Used in Janesville Baking Concern Not Excelled In the Country.

The arrangement of the building may be said to be peculiar in that the one thought evidenced at every turn is for convenience and sanitation. The shipping room is arranged with two large doors from which the wagons are loaded both for city deliveries and express business. Movable racks, boxes, trays, etc., all occupy specific and convenient places.

The pastry room is a marvel in completeness. Every table, cupboard, bin, mixing bowl is set with a definite view to facilitate the work. This room is separate from all others, having its fish rotary oven.

The bread room, with its sanitary weighing, mixing machines and kneading machines, is a model of completeness. 2 Dutchoven ovens face this room, though they are fired from the rear, and no smoke, dirt or ashes can possibly come in contact with the bakings. One special feature is the "Proofing" room, a room especially built for the "raising" of the bread. In order that every minute particle of the dough may rise, and to eliminate any chance of the bread catching cold, this special "proofing" room was built. It is always kept at the desired temperature and supplied with just the proper amount of moisture. Every bit of material that goes into Colvin's bread is weighed so that exactly the right proportions may be had, and therefore their goods always are of the same uniform high standard.

Separate rooms are built for the washing of all utensils and supplied with large sanitary sinks and a plentiful supply of hot water.

The odors arising from the hot lard in the making of fried cakes do not enter the main plant as a special room has been planned for this work.

Shower baths for the employees and modern plumbing are installed.

"The best of everything" used in the manufacture of Colvin's goods, molasses, spice, chocolate, coconut, nut meats, flour, sugar, all the best high grade goods.

Visitors are invited to visit the bakery during the "Made in Janesville" week.

The Firing Alley.

In designing this building Mr. Colvin did a bit of original thinking when he planned the firing alley. This section of the plant is a separate and distinct building from the main structure, and all the ovens back up to this alley, the fire-pots being arranged at the back of the oven and not at the front as in most bakeries. The ovens are fired from this alley, and all the coal, dust, and ashes are incinerated in the firing alley.

Recent state laws require that no baking oven be built five feet below the sidewalk line in order to beget sanitary conditions, and therefore the entire basement has been turned into storerooms. Sunlight is nature's best cleaning agent and this fact was reckoned with in planning the building. Many bakeries are built with the stables, as part of the plant in order to have the wagons nearby, ready for loading—but because of the dirt and odors from the stables, Colvin's have omitted this feature and have located their stables across from the bakery on Division St.

A very extensive express business is done, in many instances the goods being expressed as far as 100 to 200 miles from Janesville. The company has many agents in the various towns and cities in their territory. In Evansville their goods are sold by W. J. Clark, in Edgerton by W. H. Leedle & Co.; Stoughton, by The Department Co.; Madison, by Wm. Brady Co.; Clinton, by W. S. Northway; Monroe, by Carroll Bros.; Orfordville, by Clementson & Sons; Waukesha, by Love Bros.; Whitewater, The J. C. Cox Co.; Beloit, McGavock Grocery Co.; Milton Junction, Mrs. D. L. Battrell; Ft. Atkinson, Klement Bros.; Sharon, C. E. Kemp & Co.; Oregon, Ira Johnson; Palmyra, Morale & Co.

This company has been featuring a big double loaf at 10c called the "Golden Loaf Malt Bread." This bread they believe to be better than any of the smaller loafs, claiming that a better eating loaf can be made in the double size and that at the price it is proving even more satisfactory.

The Hygenic wrappers are used to wrap up their 5c loaf, the "Pearl" brand. The wrapper is a heavy waxed paper, which makes an airtight package, the bread being wrapped soon after leaving the ovens, thus retaining all its freshness and flavor.

Located on East Milwaukee street, away from the dirt and smoke of the manufacturing and business districts, stands the beautiful, modern baking plant of the Colvin's Baking Co. A more advantageous location would be hard to find, and a better plant does not exist in the entire state of Wisconsin. The building was planned by Paul Colvin after two years of arduous study of what the ideal plant for the building should be. It is a two-story brick building with a full basement built upon lines that exactly meet the requirements of the business.

The company was established in 1865, the business being purchased from the owner, of The Boston Bakery, located on North Main street. Several years later they moved to West Milwaukee street where they remained until March, 1899, when the present plant was completed.

thereto are removed from the ovens into this alley, which as before mentioned is separate from the baking plant.

The flour room upon the second floor is really a miniature flour mill with its hoppers, elevators, screening mill, etc. All flour is put through several fine silk bolting cloths during the process of airating and drying before it goes into the hoppers ready for use. This work is done entirely by machines and hands do not touch it at any time in either the process of cleaning, blending, weighing or mixing.

Interesting People.

The interesting people do not pose. They do not rave. They do not strut and swagger. They walk normally and talk unexcitedly. They do not become soulful in a few seconds after you meet them. They do not talk shop or parade the distinguishing labels and emblems of their craft. They are more likely to dodge behind pillars than to jump in front of cameras, nor do they contend with the other players on the world's stage for the star or the leading lady's share in the limelight.

Record on the Bench.

J. S. Dagdale, K. C., recorder of Birmingham, England, and chairman of the Warwickshire quarter sessions, who celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday recently, has tried ten thousand prisoners.

Star of the Evening.

Ilioporus, golden lamp of the lovely daughter of the foam, dear Ilioporus, dimmer as much than the moon, as thou art among the stars pre-eminent, hail, friend, and as I lead the revel to the shepherd's hut, in place of the moonlight lend me thine, for today the moon began her course, and too early she sank. I go not freeboating, not to lie in wait for the benighted traveler, but a lover am I, and 'tis well to favor lovers.—Blou, translation of Andrew Lang.

Honor Trees and Plants.

The Spaniards always offer libations to trees before cutting them down. The natives of Sumatra pay special honor to certain trees supposed to embody the wood spirits, while the inhabitants of the Society Islands pay similar respect to some plants.

Strickler Hay Tool Co.

Forced By Increase of Business to Move

Tools Made By Local Company a Boon to Farmers All Over the Country.

Endorsed By Farmers Everywhere

Sold in Every State in the Union They Do Much to Advertise Janesville.

The Strickler Hay Tool Co. are now comfortably located in their own building at the new location, 225 North Main St., Janesville, Wis., having considerably outgrown their former quarters.

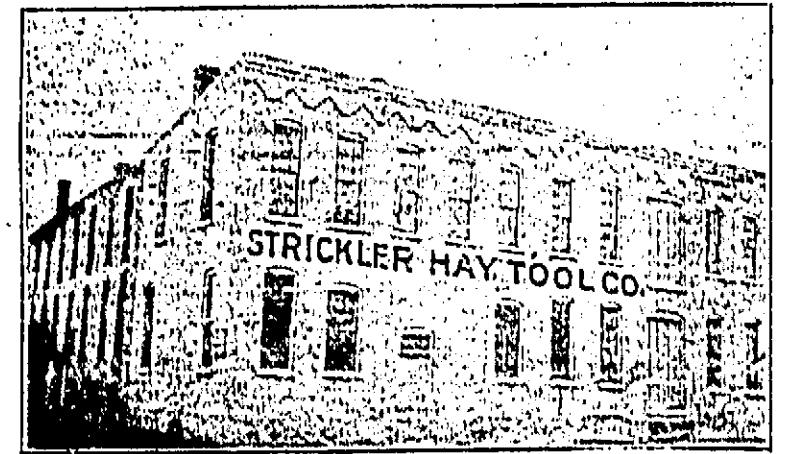

It is now possible for them to give quicker and better service to their constantly increasing trade with the hardware and implement dealers through whom they market their product, to the thousands of farmers throughout the land, using their hay unloading tools.

At the present time five salesmen feature necessary to make the perfect apparatus.

Mr. Frank H. Strickler is the inventor and patentee of the Strickler Hay Carrier. At the age of twenty-one he received his first patent on a reversible hay carrier, and for nearly thirty years he has devoted his entire time to the improvement of methods and machines for handling hay in the easiest, quickest, and most economical way.

As a consequence of his rich experience and his practical knowledge of the requirements, Strickler Hay Tool Co. are the highest quality ever are employed soliciting orders from dealers in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and many other states.

The Strickler Way to Handle Hay was invented a long time ago. It was a wonderful improvement over existing methods. It was a labor-saving, time-saving way, and was quickly adopted by hundreds of progressive farmers who have been using Strickler Hay Tools from the first, and have increased their income every year since they adopted the Strickler improved system.

The old laborious way of pitching hay into the mow and forking it back was slow and costly—besides it was hard work. It was a job to be dreaded. The new way came as a relief.

Take for instance a Strickler Hay Sling. It will take up a full wagon load of hay at three trips, spread it out just where you want it, all done so quickly and so easily that haying time is more like pastime than real work. The real work is all done by the horse.

Since the introduction of the Strickler Hay Tools, however, some imitations, but none have ever been made that approach the original in efficiency and durability; and in all the essential reached, the most efficient and the best today for the farmer to buy. They save time, save labor, save money, save waste.

The Strickler are the oldest and best known hay tools on the market. They have given satisfaction everywhere, and are endorsed by farmers from one end of this land to the other. Every tool and every part of every tool sent out is fully warranted. Purchasers run no risk in buying anything bearing the Strickler brand. Years of experience and reputation are back of every transaction with the Strickler Company.

You will notice that the Strickler Hay Carriers are made in several different styles, suitable for every purpose, and that a full line of forks and slings is made. Some farmers prefer a fork, some a sling. No matter what your preference, the Strickler Company can fit you out with your choice. It is best to handle your hay the Strickler Way—The Strickler Way.

During the big "Made in Janesville" week a large display of the Strickler Hay Tools, beautifully finished in aluminum, will be shown in the south window of C. S. Putnam on South Main street.

SWORDS AND BULLETS FOR BERLIN STRIKERS

Police, in Shower of Missiles, Hurled From Windows, Leave Many Wounded on Ground.

Berlin, Sept. 20.—Collisions between the rioting strikers and police last night were of the most violent nature. Many were injured on both sides. Thousands of strikers and their sympathizers gathered in the streets as soon as darkness fell.

Police, numbering 100 mounted and 500 foot, armed with revolvers and swords, were under orders to use the sharp edges of their swords, instead of striking with the bat.

Excited men and women dashed from place to place, smashing street lamps and windows of stores. Several stores were sacked of valuables.

The police charged time after time, wounding many. Men and women in open windows of houses hurled bottles, bricks, coal and stones at the police, who replied with revolver shots.

Commissioner von Jagow drove in an automobile through the precinct when the riot was at its height. Crowds, among whom were many women, hurled imprecations on to the police commissioner and his men, while flower pots, household articles and other missiles fell in showers from the windows.

The police entered several flats in Wald-Strasse, from one of which a woman threw a lighted lamp with terrible force against an advancing squad, burning several of the men.

Sharp conflicts occurred in Buesow-Strasse, Turn-Strasse and Zwingl-Strasse. Many shots were fired from the crowd, and the police charged with drawn swords, leaving many injured on the ground.

Scores of arrests were made. The saloons were ordered closed and police prevented the approach of thousands arriving from other quarters. This measure was effective in bringing about comparative calm.

Multi-Millionaire Racing Man Ships Horses to Buenos Ayres.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 20.—The million-dollar dairy farm of James B. Haggin, multi-millionaire horseman and mixer, was formally opened today at his Elmendorf farm, near this city. The entry of the dairy business at the Haggin farm marks the passing of his great horses, as the master of Elmendorf will in the future supply pure milk to the babies of this section of Kentucky, rather than race his horses on the American turf. Many of his horses have been shipped to Buenos Ayres, South America, to his ranch there. The state medical officers have been invited to attend a banquet at Elmendorf tonight.

Money pledges came from all quarters. Montreal Irishmen stating in a telegram to President Michael J. Ryan that they would raise $10,000. Mr. Redmond was one of the speakers.

Bachelors Confined to Skirts.

It was once the custom in Korea that a man was not allowed to attain to the dignity of trousers until he married. The bachelor was forced to wear skirts as one who possessed no definite position in society. Moreover, the law prohibited marriage unless the man was able to support a wife in the station to which she was used, so that the skirt also served as an index of income.

Interchange of Trees.

The interchange of trees among the various continents is a most inter-

CIVIC PRIDE HAS MUCH INFLUENCE

IN BRINGING ANY CITY TO THE FRONT IN RACE.

IS EVERYWHERE A BOOSTER?

With All the Advantages Janesville Has to Offer This Does Not Seem Strange—Know Your Own City.

There is no doubt but that civic pride plays an important part in the development of any community. Natural advantages, railroad communications with the outside world, schools, churches and social life all have their own place but civic pride does more than all these combined and the overall consistent booster accomplishes wonders if given the time and subject for discussion.

There is no city in southern Wisconsin that has more to boast of than Janesville. It is located in the center of one of the richest agricultural belts of the state. It has unsurpassed railroad communication, its churches, schools and its social life are excellent. The city is a healthy one, there being less contagious diseases during the year than in many cities half its size. It has beautiful outing resorts within a few minutes of the center of the business section, good streets, good parks, and handsome homes.

On the main line of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, with trains almost every hour of the day connecting the city with north and south, east and west, the new assembling yards south of the city, whose capacity is being rapidly increased as necessity demands, gives to the shipper and the traveler excellent facilities without found. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road also offers similar advantages and the prospect of this company's establishing large yards here with direct connections to the west, across the Mississippi and to the northward and Pacific coast by way of Madison and Portage is almost assured.

Interurban connection with Rockford and the northern Illinois cities and thence into Chicago adds to the efficiency of the transportation service and prospects of more lines to the north, terminating at Madison and to Watertown connecting with the Milwaukee branch will come within a few years. The local street line is to be remodeled and rebuilt, new cars installed and a service equal to the best in the state put in vogue.

Janesville is the shopping center of the entire county as well as for a territory that reaches miles to the east and west. Its stores are among the largest and finest in the state. Miles of excellent roads are being built throughout the county which when completed will all center in Janesville while the city itself is this year putting down the best streets possible, paving the main thoroughfares, and improving the brick in the business section.

Janesville has one of the best postoffice buildings in the state, a handsome modern city hall, good school buildings and modern up-to-date office blocks. It has one of the best fire departments in the state and an efficient police department. Good gas, at moderate cost, plenty electric power for lighting and manufacturing purposes and excellent water are also some of advantages that may be taken of.

Being the county seat it has an excellent court house surrounded by two as fine a park as can be found anywhere in a city library, modern and up to the requirements of a city of many thousands and more in population than Janesville has, with halls for meeting of musical and literary clubs, fraternal and social orders without number, many owning their own buildings or renting handsome quarters, and to the social life of the city. As the city grows as can be found, gives outdoor advantages for those so inclined while the Rock river with its launches and steamers, delightful cottages and pleasure resorts within easy access of the down town district attracts others.

Nor is Janesville devoid of large factories. The Rock County Sugar Co. employs hundreds of men during the winter months and purchases a half million or more dollars worth of sugar beets from the farmers of the surrounding country. The tobacco warehouse, also a source of employment for hundreds of workers adds to the general prosperity of the farming and city community. The Janesville Machine company, sends its products to all parts of the country, the Vander Shade Corporation makes Janesville known the world over as does the Parsons Pen, both employing a large force of helpers.

The Lewis Knitting Company, the

THEATRE

Of Edmund Rostand's play including La Princesse Lointaine, Cyrano de Bergueres, L'Algon, Les Romanesques, and Chateaufort, only two have been widely known in this country. During the present season, however, nearly every one of Rostand's plays will be given in the United States, either in English or French. Madame Bernhardt is to include in her repertoire
La Princesse Lointaine, L'Algon, Le Bois Sacre, Les Romanesques, and Les Romanesques. Madame Adams is to appear in the title role of Chateaufort;
while John Nicholson will tour in an Anglicized version of Les Romanesques.

opportunity of seeing the divine Sarah, or who are not familiar with the veritable will thus have an excellent chance to study Rostand as a dramatist of pure comedy. In his Les Romanesques, indeed, his etching of the comic episodes bears close resemblance to cartooning. The story of Romeo and Juliet; on the conventionalized idea of romantic passion as built up by poets and playwrights. It outlines Bernard Shaw in his satirical shafts, but never degenerates to mere pamphleteering or preaching to make its point.

The local engagement of Les Ro-manesques will include the original company and production which so charmed Chicago theatre-goers last spring and summer, headed, of course, by Mr. Nicholson, which is to be seen at the Myers theatre, Friday, Sept.

ROCK COUNTY FOLKS
STUNG IN OKLAHOMA

Ex-Postmaster Mayhew of Clinton Writes That Thirty Were Defrauded in Land Swindle.

Thirty Rock county residents have been defrauded of about $1,000 in Oklahoma land investments according to a letter which has been received here from William A. Mayhew, former postmaster at Clinton, who went west to investigate alluring offers made through the mails and, becoming convinced that the whole scheme involving Price City and neighboring territory, was an unmitigated swindle, complained to the government. Mr.
Mayhew's letter was sent from Enid, Okla., and he called attention to the fact that the federal courts of the promoters, Stanley, Kline, and Porter. The extent of their operations is evidenced by the fact that witnesses from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas, and Alabama, as well as Wisconsin, have already been examined.
P. W. Anstett, formerly of Beloit and at present assistant cashier of the First National bank at Cayman, Okla., where the home office of the defendants was located, testified that they deposited $75,000 during a period of five months from about June 1, 1908.
It has also been shown that they paid
$1,200 for the original town site,
United States District Attorney John Embert of Stillwater, Okla., who secured the indictments, in conducting a strong case single handed against three of the ablest lawyers in the southwest and according to Mr. May-hew a conviction seems almost certain.

elaborate and ambitious than heretofore. The Halloween festival was than incidental.

High Quality Cotton Bats Made in Our Own City

Very few of the women of Southern Wisconsin know that the soft, pure, dainty white cotton they use in making quilts, and other things for household use, are made in Janesville. The Janesville Batting Mill recently rebuilt, is one of the most modern plants of its kind in the world. New machines, modern equipment throughout and excellent arrangement of the factory mark this concern as one of the "progressives" of the city.
The factory is devoted exclusively to the making of cotton bats and is unique in that they make both the bleached and unbleached product. The named grades are: "Pride of the State," "Angora," "Name-Such," "Perfect," "De Luxe," "Albright," "White Foot," "Honesty," "Western" and others as well as many specially named bats yet in running order.

Janesville Made Underwear
Best in the World.HOW ONE MAN FOUND IT OUT—EXCEPTIONAL MERIT OF LEWIS UNDERWEAR.

Some few years ago a prominent Janesville business man, while in New York city on business, decided to buy some really good underwear. He went to the very best furnisher in New York and asked for something real good in underwear. The furnisher handed it to him over the counter, saying, "This is the best underwear made in the world. It's made in the west by the Lewis Knitting Co. of Janesville, Wis." The business man was greatly surprised to say the least. He knew the Lewis Knitting Co. but had no idea that they made underwear with such a reputation.

The Lewis underwear is sold to all first class furnishes in the United States. A large force of traveling men covers this country from coast to coast. The company maintain offices in Chicago, New York and San Francisco.

The underwear is made in four varieties: "Full Fashioned" or hand knitted goods; "Lace Knit," a new fabric especially cool and comfortable;
"Janesville," a ribbed underwear of fine quality, and "Napsook," the latter made in athletic, union suits and shirts or drawers, in one-quarter or no sleeve and knee length styles.

Men's high class garments are made exclusively—union suits, shirts, and drawers, of silk, flax, balbriggan, worsted and woolsens. The prices range $1.50 per garment to $50.00.

There are many points of superiority in this Janesville made underwear. All garments are made of the highest grade yarn procurable. Short-

Whose Baby?

It seemed to the man that in all the three years he had known his wife she had never looked quite so young and childlike as she did this morning.

Her delicate face, nearly as white as the pillow on which it lay, appeared almost infantile in its sweet purity of outline. The soft hair, parted and falling over her shoulders in two golden braids, looked far from matronly and the man had fairly to pinch himself in order to realize that the little pink-faced bundle in the curve of the slender, girlish arm was not a dream.

"Margaret, darling," he said, as he kissed her, "you are so pale. Are you dreadfully tired? Have too many people been in to see you this morning?"

"No, I'm not really tired, Frank, but—" The voice faltered and broke with a tremulous little sob.

"Why, Margaret, what is wrong? Don't you like the nurse? Is—"

"The nurse is all kindness. I'm just silly, that's all."

"But what are you silly about?"

"I'm not going to tell you, dear. You would think me too foolish if I did. So don't ask me."

The man reached out his hand and took his wife's small, tapering fingers in a firm grasp. He felt inexplicably awkward and helpless. For a few moments there was silence, broken only by the amusingly audible breathing of the tiny sleeper. Then the wife withdrew her hand from her husband's and rather violently dabbed her eyes.

"Margaret, what is it that troubles you? You must tell me, dear."

"I'm such a goose," I can't help feeling badly."

"You're just nervous, then? Shall I go away and send nurse in?" But she said: "I could stay a half-hour."

There was a note of disappointment in his voice.

"Of course you can stay, Frank. I won't be such a baby. Any one might think you had two babies!" She smiled mistily and tried to stop her tears.

The husband took the filmy little wet handkerchief from her hand and then he tenderly dried her cheeks with his own more practical one.

"I should like to know what makes you unhappy. Maybe if I knew I could do something to stop it."

"No, nobody can stop it. That's the trouble. It seems to me that I can't stand it any longer."

The man half rose from his seat by the bed. "I think I'd better go," he said. "I'm afraid you're getting excited and feverish. Your face is flushing."

"No, I don't want you to go. Besides, if you move round the room now, you might wake Francis."

"Very well, dear. I want to stay here with you and Francis as long as I'm permitted. Even if the nurse won't let me hold him, that youngster is my boy."

"That's what everybody says. That's what makes me so unhappy."

"Makes you unhappy?"

"Yes, everybody who comes in here to see Francis says he's your baby."

"Well—"

"Well—now, this morning your Aunt Sarah came in and she exclaimed, 'Just think of our Frank having a son!' Then yesterday your mother brought in the old doctor and he looked at Francis and chuckled. 'Well, well, so that lad Frank has a boy of his own!'"

When Miss Geraldine Harvey was shown Francis she said, with a great deal of feeling, 'So this is really Frank's baby?' And every friend and neighbor and relative who has been in here, has mentioned ecstatically that Francis is your baby, while not one single person has said anything about his being my baby, and he just is mine!"

"I just wish I were home at father's! Then maybe people would say, 'So this is Margaret's baby!'"

"Indeed, they would," said the husband, laughing. "And I should be horribly jealous."

"Now, Frank, you know I didn't want to tell you all this—this nonsense. I knew you'd think me silly."

"No, you're not silly—not a bit. You're the dearest little girl-mother in the world. But look! I think that Margaret's baby is waking up."

Margaret's baby was waking up.

Queensland is celebrated for its opals. A particularly brilliant set, the finest ever brought together in Queensland, has lately been assembled. Numbering just over thirty pieces, the set is valued at considerably more than $2,000 and comes entirely from Queensland fields.

In some of the specimens the vividness and peculiar blend of the colors are almost dazzling, even in the dimmest light. One especially fine block of the harlequin pattern opal presents the appearance of a mosaic done in all the colors of the rainbow, while another, an oval-shaped stone, graduates in color from a glorious amethyst blue at one end to a fascinating combination of fully twenty different colors and shades at the other. A Libel.

"I want to know if I can sue him for libel?"

"On what grounds?"

"He's insinuating to everyone he meets that I haven't sense enough to stick eggs."

"What is his exact language?"

"He's telling that I was accepted on a murder jury."

Most merchants who are Big Advertisers spend but 2% to 5% of the volume of their business for advertising. In Janesville but few merchants spend 2%, none spend 5%.

DAINTIES FOR THE INVALIDS

Baked Apple, Milk or Cream Codfish Cup Custard and Other Tempting Recipes.

Cutlet—Remove fat from a carefully selected cutlet from the loin or neck of mutton, put it in a stewpan with 4 tablespoons of water, a small bit of celery, pinch of salt and a pinch of white pepper. Stew slowly for a 2 hours, removing every bit of fat that rises to the surface. The celery should be cut into small dice-shaped pieces before adding to the meat. Cook until cutlet is very tender and serve with the broth.

Baked Apple—Take a large sweet apple, pared, cored; bake until soft and serve with a hotted custard or cream.

A free use of pineapples is needed in many cases. They are an antiseptic in some diseases of the throat.

Cup Custard—Break into a coffee cup an egg. Put in two teaspoons of sugar. Beat up thoroughly—a pinch of salt—a bit of grated nutmeg. Fill up cup with sweet milk. Turn into another cup, well buttered, and set in a pan of boiling water, reaching nearly to the top of the cup. Set in the oven and when the custard is set, it is done. Eat cold.

Clam Broth—Select 12 small clams, drain and chop fine; add ½ pint of clam juice or hot water, a bit of salt and a small piece of butter. Simmer 30 minutes, add a gill of boiled milk, strain and serve.

Milk or Cream Codfish—Pick up a large tablespoon of salt codfish very fine, freshen it considerably by placing it over the fire in a basin, covering it with cold water, as it comes to a boil. Turn off water and freshen again if very salt, then turn off water until dry and pour over ½ cup of milk or thin cream, add a bit of butter and a thickening made of 1 teaspoon of flour wet up with a little milk. Turn this over a slice of dipped toast.

HINTS AROUND THE HOME

Several Valuable Suggestions Which May Help the Busy Housewife to Do Many Things.

When baking bread, a small paint or varnish brush saves the fingers when pans are to be greased and the loaves brushed over with butter.

White clothes that have become yellow may be whitened after washing them in the usual way by soaking them over night in clear water into which cream of tartar has been put—a teaspoonful to a quart of water.

A few drops of lemon juice and a sprig of mint added to a glass of iced tea makes a cooling and refreshing drink.

Dried red pepper pods make an attractive garnish for slaw and other green salads. Soak in hot water and, when fresh, cut into strips.

Scalded green peppers in boiling water, drain and stuff with equal parts boiled rice, tomatoes, and chopped cooked meat. Bake in slow oven until peppers are tender.

If it is difficult to rid a frying-pan of the smell of fish or onions, a little oatmeal should be sprinkled over it and the pan shaken over the fire until the oatmeal begins to scorch.

Water bottles may be cleaned with salt and vinegar—a dessert spoonful of salt moistened with vinegar. Shake until stains are removed.

Boil yellowed linen in a lather made of one pound of white soap to one gallon of milk. Rinse in two waters, adding bluing to the last water. This is grandmother's way.

Potato Fluff.

With this steak was offered a very delicious potato fluff made of six left over potatoes, which in less skillful hands might have been warmed up or fried.

The skins of these tubers were removed and they were put through a colander, after which there was added one gill of hot cream, a teaspoonful of salt, a small piece of butter and the well beaten whites of three eggs. The preparation was cooked in a baking dish (using a moderate oven) until prettily browned over, and was served at once.

When the left-over happens to be macaroni, peanuts or peanut butter, if at hand, will impart a novel and agreeable flavor that will make one's guests inquire for the recipe of the dish.

Wash over the paste by holding it in a colander under the faucet and turning carefully with a fork. Put a layer of the macaroni into a buttered baking dish, then one of ordinary white sauce and one of finely chopped peanuts or peanut butter. Repeat until the dish is full. Let the top layer be sauce sprinkled over with bread crumbs and dotted with butter. Bake brown.

Hot Mint Sauce.

Mint sauce to go with lamb may be either hot or cold. To make the former put into a small saucepan five or six sprigs of fresh mint, a bay leaf, a teaspoonful of chopped onion, a teaspoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of strained tomato, one cupful of stock and the beaten white of one egg. Bring to boiling point, then simmer gently for 10 minutes. Thicken with a teaspoonful of cornstarch, add a few fresh chopped mint leaves and serve.

Tasty Pie Crust.

Rich pie crust is often cut into long, thin strips and browned in the oven, spread with a layer of jam and then with whipped cream. After spreading, place every two strips together, sandwich fashion, and serve.

It is a fallacy to believe that advertising will sell anything. The store or the article advertised must first of itself attract attention to it.

CARLES F. JOHNSON.
May Succeed Senator Hale in the United States Senate.

Waterloo, Me.—As an outcome of the recent Maine elections, at which the democrats were placed in control of the next state legislature, the Hon. Eugene Hale, for so many years a dominant factor in the United States senate, will be retired, and in his place a democrat named. Among those most frequently suggested is Charles F. Johnson of Waterville. Mr. Johnson is a lawyer and popular with his democratic constituents.

Among the other candidates suggested for the toga are William M. Bennett of Portland, who made such a fight against Mr. Hale for congress; State Senator L. M. Staples of Washington, Oakley C. Curtis and James C. Hamlen of Portland and John Clark Senter of Westbrook.

Senator Hale has been in the United States senate continuously since March 4, 1881, and is the senior ranking member in the body. Senator Frye, also of Maine, began his service on March 15 of the same year and Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island on October 5 of the same year.

Vanadium's Value.

The value of vanadium in a steel alloy lies in the fact that it removes oxygen and nitrogen, unites with the iron, and forms compounds that increase the strength of the steel.

Don't Worry.

If you don't worry, people will say you lack a proper sense of your responsibilities. But don't let that worry you.

These cars represent the product of the most successful effort thus far made by a great combination of capital and intelligence to meet the popular demand—a car suitable to the fastidious at a price that fits the well-to-do pocketbook.

The average citizen demands class, endurance, power, speed and style. He wants a car like the $5,000 motor of the millionaire, but the price is too high.

In the E-M-F 30 we have the car that meets this popular want and the price is only $1250.

Not only does the E-M-F meet the approval of the average citizen; the ultra wealthy man sees in it all the advantages of the maximum price car, and the thrift that made him rich induces him also to purchase the E-M-F.

Here are the specifications: A 30 H. P. motor, 4-inch cylinder, 4-inch cycle bore, 4 stroke, 4 1/2 inch, 108-inch wheelbase, tires 32, 7x3 1/2 inches, 5-passenger touring car.

E-M-F "30" TOURING CAR, $1250.

People wonder how the Flanders "20" can be sold at $750. It is a wonder.

The answer is the answer to this question: Can a factory making 25,000 cars a year make a better car for less money than a factory making 1,000 or 2,000 or 3,000 cars?

CERTAINLY, and that is the reason we can sell Flanders "20" at a figure that has staggered competition. From pig iron to finished product these cars are made under one roof. The company pays about $25,000 a year to an engineer who is a genius and a master. He perfects and economizes. You get the benefit.

The Flanders "20" has no competition at less than nearly double the price.

For the nominal sum of $40 we add a rear seat to the Flanders "20" which gives an ample family car of superior style and ample capacity. No buyer who figures price and quality can afford to neglect an inspection.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 28, 1870.—Base Ball.—The return game of the second series between the Fountain City's of Fond du Lac and the Mutuals, of Janesville, was played at the former place, on yesterday, played a superior game, but the Mutuals, on the seventh inning, by the score of 8 to 11. The Mutuals as usual, played a superior game, battling with but few errors, and holding with but few errors. This is the fourth time the Fountain City's have suffered defeat from our club, and it is presumed are now willing to give up the contest and acknowledge that the Mutuals are too much for them.

CELEBRATES SILVER JUBILEE.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew Opens Annual Convention at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 28.—The silver anniversary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the United States is being celebrated at a convention which opened here today. It was twenty-five years ago that the late James L. Hough, of Chicago, founded the order and its growth and development during that time have been wonderful. All over the country, in large and small towns, chapters of the order are found.

There will be a memorial service held on the last day of the convention, Sunday, in honor of the founder of the order, the speakers being Bishop Anderson of Chicago; John W. Wood of New York, the corresponding secretary of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary society, and Gifford Pinchot of Washington.

According to the program of the convention, every minute of the six days there will be something doing. If the delegates are not attending a meeting, they will be indulging in some sort of the entertainment that has been arranged for them. Today was devoted to special meetings of various committees and the completion of arrangements. The National council also was in session.

JESSIE MORRISON IS PAROLED

Woman Who Killed Her Successful Rival Is Given Freedom.

Topoka, Kan., Sept. 28.—Jessie Morrison, who has been serving a twenty-five year prison sentence for killing Mrs. Olin Castle at Eldorado, Kan., on June 11, 1900, was paroled by Governor Stubbs.

Miss Morrison is the daughter of former Circuit Judge H. M. Morrison. Both the Morrison and Castle families are prominent.

The murder of Mrs. Olin Castle was one of the most sensational crimes in the history of the state. Miss Jessie Morrison and Miss Clara Wiley had both received attentions from Olin Castle and a jealous rivalry grew up between them. Castle married Clara Wiley.

On June 22, 1900, neighbors heard a fight going on in the Castle cottage. Miss Morrison was found holding a razor and standing over her rival, whose throat was cut. Miss Morrison said she fought in self-defense. Mrs. Castle made a dying statement declaring Miss Morrison attacked her.

Federal Court Sets Limitation of Guilt in the Fraud Trial.

McAlester, Okla., Sept. 28.—The federal court has put attorneys in the air by ruling in the Muskogee town lot fraud case against Governor Haskell that the prosecution must show the defendant conscious of participation in the alleged frauds within three years prior to the indictment. The claim is made that this acquits Haskell, but this is denied.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN

MANY PROFIT BY OMITTING BREAKFAST.

The no-breakfast plan earnestly advocated by Doctor Dewey, has grown steadily in popularity. Few adults, especially sedentary workers, would not be better without any breakfast but an apple or orange or grape fruit. Digestion is not completed when the food passes out of the stomach, and it is advisable that once at least in each 24 hours time be allowed for complete digestion, assimilation and elimination before another meal be taken. The benefits claimed by those who have followed this plan (as I have myself for many years), are clearly the natural results to be expected from the physiological principles involved. It is as difficult for one who has been in the habit of eating a heavy morning meal to give it up as to give up coffee or alcohol. Unpleasant feelings may continue for weeks during the forenoon, but I have never known an adult who has adopted the method without a distinctly recognizable gain in health and working capacity, though I have known many to fall in the attempt to acquire the habit. The chief objection is the inability to overeat at noon. Ten and five are the best meal hours where circumstances permit.

SOLUTION OF LABOR PROBLEM

Plan Suggested Requires Establishment of National Unit of Value for Work.

It should be beyond the power of either party (that is, labor and capital) to fix the wages for any specified class of work. As before suggested, it is a matter to be determined impersonally and automatically, and this only can be done by the establishment of a national unit of value for labor, upon which all wages shall be computed with the same universality of application as now inheres in the established tables of weights and measures. Necessarily, such a unit of value for labor must be not only a fixed entity in relation to rates of wages, but must at the same time be susceptible of accommodation to economic changes, so that the money value of wages shall keep pace with fluctuations

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.INDIGESTION CAUSES AB-NORMAL APPETITE.

Irregular digestion—always liable to occur as a result of abnormal mental conditions following privation, etc., induces abnormal appetite, a desire for food or drink unnatural in kind and amount. The eating of unnatural food and unnatural drinking tend to establish an unnatural appetite, which exhibits itself in craving for fermented liquors, fermenting foods, like putrid cheese, and unnatural mixtures of cooked foods. Desire for strong drinks is a natural result. When one is really thirsty, the unmistakable demand is for cold water. Coffee is an objectionable beverage, where the nervous system is impaired. It retards digestion, interferes with sleep, and injures the nervous system.

"The words had come tumbling forth until Cherry was forced to pause for breath.

"You don't understand," said Boyd. "You are primitive; you have lived in the open. She is exactly your opposite. Conservation is bred in her, and she can't help her nature. It was hard even for me to understand at first, but when I saw her life, when I saw how she had been reared from childhood, I understood perfectly. I would not have her other than she is. It is enough for me to know that in her own way, she cures for me."

Cherry tossed her head in derision.

"For my part I prefer red blood to sap, and when I love I want to know it. I don't want to have it proved to me like a problem in geometry. I want to love and hate and do wild, impulsive things against my own judgment."

"Have you ever loved in that way?" he inquired abruptly.

"Yes," she answered without hesitation, looking him squarely in the eye with an expression he could not fathom. "Thank heaven, I'm not the artificial kind! As you say, I'm primitive. I have lived! Her crimson lips curled scornfully.

"I didn't expect you to understand her," he said. "But she loves me. And I—well, she is my religion. A man must have some kind. He can't worship his own image."

Cherry Malotte turned slowly to the landing place and made her way into the launch. All the way back she kept silence, and Boyd, confused by her attack upon the citadel of his faith and strangely sore at heart, made no effort at speech.

"Innocent!" Fraser met him at the water's edge.

"Where in the devil have you been?" he cried breathlessly.

"At the Indian village after help. Why?"

"Like George is in more trouble. He sent for help two hours ago. I was just going to beat it down there."

"What's up?"

"There's six of your men in the bunk house all beat up. They don't look like they'd be any more for awhile. Marsh's men threw their salmon overboard, and they had another fight. Things are getting warm."

"We can't allow ourselves to be driven from the banks," said Boyd quickly. "I'll get the shoremen together right away. That Afton and being him along. We'll need every man we can get."

"Nothing doing with that party. He's quit like a house on fire and gone to bed."

"Very well; he's no good anyhow. He's better out of the way."

He hurried through the building, now silent and half deserted, gathering a crew; then, leaving only the orientals and the watchman to guard the plant, he loaded his men into the boats and set out.

All that afternoon and on through the long, murky hours of the night the battle raged on the lower reaches of the Kalvik. Boat crews clashed; half clad men cursed each other and fought with naked fists, with oars and clubs, and when these failed they drove at one another with wicked one third fish spears.

All night the hordes of malnutrition swarmed upward toward the fatal waters of their birth, through sagging nets that were torn and slit, beneath keels that rocked to the impact of struggling, heedless bodies.

CHAPTER XVII.

As the sun slanted up between the southward hills out from the gossamer haze that lay like filmy forest smoke above the ocean came a snow white yacht.

To Lloyd Emerson she seemed like an angel of mercy, and he stood forth upon the deck of his launch searching for the vessel.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Give Them Help and Many Janesville People Will Be Happier.

"Throw Out the Life Line!"

The kidneys need help.

They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood.

They're getting worse every minute.

Will you help them?

Donn's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.

Will cure any form of kidney trouble.

Mrs. Thomas Bowles, 217 Main St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have used Donn's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Co., at different times for more than ten years and I know they are reliable. I first took the remedy when suffering from an attack of kidney trouble and the contents of a few boxes cured me. I have been in good health since. I publicly recommended Donn's Kidney Pills several years ago, and have since then advised their use to everyone I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBurg Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Donn's—and take no other.

her "slightly" for the sight of a woman's figure. When he had first seen the ship rounding the point he had uttered a cry, then fallen silent watching her as she drew near, heedless of his surroundings. His heart was leaping; his breath was choking him. It seemed as if he must shout Marsh's name aloud and stretch his arms out to her. Of course she would see him as the Grande Dame passed. She would be looking for him, he knew. She would be standing there, wet with the dew, searching with all her eyes. Doubtless she had waited patiently at her post from the instant land came into sight. Seized by a sudden panic lest she pass him unnoticed, he ordered his launch near the yacht's course. His eyes roved over the craft, but all he saw were a uniformed officer upon the bridge and the bronzed faces of the watch starting over the rail. He saw close drawn curtains over the entire windows, indicating that the passengers were still asleep. Then as he stood there heavily hearted, drooping with fatigue, his wet body chilled by the morning's breath, the Grande Dame glided past, and he found the shell beneath his feet rocking in her wake.

George Holt pulled him and brought his own launch alongside.

"What craft is that?" he inquired.

"She is the company's yacht with the N. A. P. officers aboard."

"Some of our boys is hurt pretty bad," he observed. "I've told them to take in their nets and go back to the plant."

"We all need breakfast."

"I don't want nothing. I'm going over to the trap."

Emerson shrugged his shoulders listlessly; he was very tired. "What is the use? It won't pay us to lift it."

"I've watched that point of land for five years, and I never seen fish catch this way before," Holt growled stubbornly. "If they don't strike in today we better close down. Marsh's men eat half our nets and crippled more than half our crew last night." He began to rumble curses. "Say, we made a mistake the other day, didn't we? We ought to have put that feller away. It ain't too late yet."

"Wait, Wayne Wayland is aboard that yacht. I know him. He's a hard man, and I've heard strange stories about him, but I don't believe he knows all that Marsh has been doing. I'm going to see him and tell him everything."

"Suppose he turns you down?"

"Then there will be time enough to consider what you suggest. I don't like to think about it."

"You don't have to," said Holt, lowering his voice so that the helmsman could not hear. "I've been thinking it over all night, and it looks like I'd ought to do it myself. Marsh is coming to me anyhow, and I'm older than you be. It ain't right for a young feller like you to take a chance. If they get me you can run the business alone."

Boyd laid his hand on his companion's shoulder.

"No," he said. "Perhaps I wouldn't stick at murder—I don't know. But I won't profit by another man's crime, and if it comes to that I'll take my share of the risk and the guilt. Whatever you do, I stand with you. But we'll hope for better things. It's no easy thing for me to go to Mr. Wayland asking a favor. You see, his daughter is—well, I—I want to see her very badly."

"I see," and that looked at dead wrong for you to take a hand. If it's necessary to get Marsh I'll do it alone. With him out of the way I think you can make a go of it. He's like a rat—somebody's got to stamp on him. Now I'm off for the trap. Let me know what the old man says."

Boyd returned to the cannery with the old mood of self disgust and bitterness heavy upon him. He realized that George's offer to commit murder had not shocked him as much as upon his first mention. He knew that he had thought of shedding human blood with as little compunction as if the intended victim had been some noxious animal. He felt, indeed, that if his love for Mildred made him a criminal, she, too, would be soiled by his dishonor, and for her sake he shrank from the idea of violence, yet he lacked the energy at that time to put it from him.

Well, he would go to her father, humble himself and beg for protection. If he failed then Marsh must look out for himself. He could not find it in his heart to spare his enemy.

At the plant he found Alton Clyde tremendously excited at the arrival of the yacht and eager to visit his friends. He sent him to the launch and after a hasty breakfast joined him.

On their way out Boyd felt a return of that mingling which had mastered him on his first meeting with Mildred in Chicago. For the second time he was believing her failure instead of the promised victory.

Willis Marsh was ahead of him, standing with Mr. Wayland at the rail. Some one else was with them. Boyd's heart leaped wildly as he recognized her. He would have known that slim figure anywhere. And Mildred saw him, too, pointing him out to her companions.

With knees shaking under him he came stumbling up the landing ladder, a tall, gaunt figure of a man in rough clothing and boots stained with the sea salt. He looked older by five years than when the girl had last seen him. His cheeks were hollowed and his lips cracked by the wind, but his eyes were aflame with the old light. His smile was for her alone.

He never remembered the spoken greetings nor the looks the others gave him, for her soft, cool hands lay in his hand, feverish palms, and she was smiling up at him.

Alton Clyde was at his heels, and he felt Mildred disengage her hand. His toes slipped away from her face long enough to nod at Marsh, who gave him a menacing look, then turned to Wayne Wayland. The old man was saying something, and Boyd answered him unintelligibly, after which he took Mildred's hands once more with such an air of unconscious proprietorship that Willis Marsh growled to the lips and turned his back. Other people whom Boyd had not noticed until now came down the deck—men and women with fieldglasses and cameras swaying over their shoulders. He found that he was being introduced to them by Mildred, whose voice betrayed no tremor and whose manners were no collected as if this were her own drawing room and the man at her side a casual acquaintance. The strangers mingled with the little group, leveled their glasses and made senseless remarks after the manner of tourists the world over. Boyd gathered somehow that they were officers of the trust or heavy stockholders and their wives. He led Mildred to a deck chair and seated himself beside her.

"At last!" he breathed. "You are here, Mildred. You really came, after all?"

"Yes, Boyd."

"And are you glad?"

"Indeed I am. The trip has been wonderful."

"It doesn't seem possible. I can't believe that this is really you—that I am not dreaming, or usual."

"And you? How have you been?"

"I've been well—I guess I have. I haven't had time to think of myself. Oh, my lady!" His voice broke with tenderness, and he laid his hand gently upon hers.

She withdrew it quickly.

"Not here! Remember where we are. You are not looking well, Boyd. I don't know that I ever saw you look so bad. Perhaps it is your clothes."

"I am tired," he confessed, feeling anew the weariness of the past twenty-four hours. He covertly stroked a fold of her dress, murmuring: "You are here, after all. And you love me, Mildred? You haven't changed, have you?"

A Great Trick.

"What are those funny looking things on the front of the machine?"

"Ah," said the dealer, with enthusiasm, "I was wanting you to notice those. This is our latest death prevention. As I told you, our car is warranted not to strike a tree, telephone pole or lamp post. The moment the car comes in contact with anything of the sort it immediately begins to climb."

IT'S NO LONGER ENOUGH

merely to manufacture a good article. In many cases, through imitation and substitution, a manufacturer has to send a bodyguard along with his goods until they reach the consumer.

Take the case of RUBEROID ROOFING, for instance. RUBEROID ROOFING was put on the market nineteen years ago. It was the best roofing then and is the best roofing now. RUBEROID ROOFING to-day has over three hundred imitators and most of them use the three letters, "oid," at the end of the name of their imitation brand.

You can't get a better reason for putting Rubenoid Roofing—made by The Standard Paint Co., and with the trademark shown here—on your roof. Rubenoid Roofing must be a good deal more than merely a good roofing when a new and unknown company believes that the best way to break into the roofing business is to call itself by the name of its foremost competitor.

Rubenoid Roofing, made by The Standard Paint Co., costs a little more when you buy it, but a great deal less when you use it, than any other roofing made.

The first cost of roofing means nothing. The ultimate question is, "How long will it last?"

Another advantage of Rubenoid Roofing is that it is also made in permanent colors of RED and GREEN. The reason Rubenoid colors are permanent is that they are not painted on—they are built into the fabric, and so cannot peel off.

When you go out to buy roofing steer a clear course through the tangle of imitators, and get RUBEROID ROOFING made by the company who are giving you this information now—with the trade-marks shown here, outside the roll, and stamped on every seven feet of the roll itself. Every other competing roofing was put on the market after RUBEROID ROOFING, and has since trailed it not only in age but in quality.

Solid Pedestal Tables
The original and genuine solid pedestal tables bear our trade mark, which is in plain sight on the solid pedestal. When you come to purchase a table always look for this mark. There are imitations of our table being sold. Do not accept this inferior table which is made to sell, not to satisfy. Insist on the genuine Hanson Table.
